OSAKA SWEEP BY FIERCE FIRE

ENTIRE CITY MAY BE WIPED OUT TO-DAY

Like Great Chicago Fire, it Began From Upsetting Oil Lamp.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Osaka, Japan, July 31.—One-fourth of this city was destroyed to-day by a fire which is sweeping onward to-night with terrific fury and threatens to burn every building in Osaka. More than 5,000 houses have already been destroyed, and it is believed that the loss of life has been enormous.

The aqueduct has been dried up by the fire, and firemen are powerless to combat the flames. Dynamite being used this evening in an attempt to check the fire, but little success is being met.

Troops are being poured into the city by the hundreds to aid in fighting the fire and to control the panic-stricken people.

The fire started early this morning in the northern district by the upsetting of an oil lamp. The fire spread rapidly and thousands of houses have been reduced to ashes. The flames continued to spread throughout the day, and to-night the situation is desperate.

So intense has become the heat from the thousands of flaming structures that water in the canals and the panic-stricken inhabitants have met death. The great reservoirs, the largest in the empire, which faced the water-front, have all been destroyed, and unless there is a change in the direction of the high wind now blowing toward the unburned section, the entire city is doomed.

The famous castle, built in 1583, and one of the most famous structures of the empire, is directly in the path of the flames and cannot escape destruction. Osaka has a population of over a million inhabitants, and is the commercial center of Japan. It is one of the most picturesque cities of the empire, being girdled with canals as is Venice.

Situated at the head of the gulf of Osaka, in central Japan, the most populous city of the empire but for the shallowness of the water in its harbor, which has kept it from becoming one of the most important ports of the world. It is the rice and tea centre of the empire, and there is but a small resident foreign population, though the quaint old city is visited by thousands of tourists annually.

ZEPPELIN SAILS IN STRONG WIND

GERMAN AIRSHIP ON LENGTHY JOURNEY

Travelled From Berlin to Frankfort in Twelve Hours.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Berlin, July 31.—Count Zeppelin, accompanied by seven guests in the airship Zeppelin 11, left Friedrichshafen at 4:40 this morning for Frankfurt for a trial exhibition.

Sailing high, he passed over Gelsling shortly after 7 o'clock, then being 250 miles from his destination. A threatening storm broke at this point in the journey, and Count Zeppelin, directing his dirigible downward, descended to the city. He remained for an hour, and with clearing weather, re-ascended and at 10:45 passed over Heilbronn.

When passing over Ulm, the count dropped a message directed to his wife. In the communication he stated that the wind was strong, but he had no fear.

Near Schwäbisch, the airship was compelled to descend near earth because two strong counter air currents were encountered.

As the huge balloon sailed over Cannstatt, Capt. George dropped a note describing the flight.

Took Twelve Hours.
Frankfurt, Germany, July 31.—Count Zeppelin landed here at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, having completed his trip in his airship from Friedrichshafen in 12 hours.

The count and the seven guests who accompanied him on his flight were given an ovation when they landed at the trial exhibition grounds.

Before landing, Count Zeppelin manoeuvred for an hour above the city, causing the airship to make various intricate movements.

STRIKE PARADE AT GLACE BAY

TROOPS TO PREVENT MEN ASSEMBLING

Municipal Councils Will Not Permit Meeting, But Men Are Determined.

(Special to the Times.)
Sydney, N. S., July 31.—Lively if not riotous scenes are anticipated this afternoon at Glace Bay in connection with the proposed U. M. W. A. demonstration. The authorities have practically decided that they will endeavor to prevent the strikers from assembling and General Drury is preparing to station his troops to the best advantage.

Both Glace Bay and Dominion consider the situation, and it was decided at both meetings that a strike parade would not be permitted, but in defiance of the authorities, the strikers are getting ready for it.

A fracas occurred last night at Bridgeport, in which two constables were roughly handled. Several strikers were arrested.

ON TO SEATTLE FOR THE C. P. R.

BIG CANADIAN ROAD
STILL AFTER HILL

Cut-off Between Vancouver and Spokane to Greatly
Shorten Route.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Vancouver, B. C., July 31.—The Canadian Pacific railway has a new move on hand that is regarded as a direct reply to James J. Hill's invasion of Canadian Pacific territory along the international boundary line on the prairies. The new proposal is that of a short line from Spokane to Vancouver.

This will be accomplished by building a line from the town of Midway to Vancouver, affording the Canadian company a continuous route from Spokane to the coast that will be hours shorter than any other. Recently the C. P. R. secured the charter of a road between Midway and Vernon which was partly built four years ago by a company which was unable to carry the deal to completion.

With the acquisition of this stretch of road, it is expected the Canadian line will have the Spokane cut-off in operation within a little more than a year. Railroad men believe that by the time the through line is completed, the Canadian Pacific will have its own tracks into Seattle and will make a bid for the grain hauling trade between Spokane and Seattle, Tacoma and Portland.

Both Glace Bay and Dominion consider the situation, and it was decided at both meetings that a strike parade would not be permitted, but in defiance of the authorities, the strikers are getting ready for it.

FIVE HUNDRED DEAD IN RUINS

At Least Five Mexican Towns Are Now Off the Map.

(Times Leased Wire.)
City of Mexico, July 31.—Reports received here to-day indicate that 500 persons were killed in the earthquake which shook Central Mexico yesterday. Five towns are believed to be totally destroyed and a number of others were partially wrecked by the tremors.

The heaviest damage is thought to have been done at Chilapa, 75 miles from Acapulco, which the messages to-day indicate was wiped completely off the face of the earth by the shocks. Scores were crushed to death under the falling walls there and their bodies cremated in the fire which followed.

Both Glace Bay and Dominion consider the situation, and it was decided at both meetings that a strike parade would not be permitted, but in defiance of the authorities, the strikers are getting ready for it.

CANADIAN'S ARMOR PLATE

ADMIRALTY TESTS
PROVED IT GOOD

London Man Has Succeeded in Inventing Improved Process.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Montreal, July 31.—A special London cable says:
Harold A. Richardson, of London, Ont., has been here for the past two years in connection with an improved process for the manufacture of armor plate. He says he has scored a great success in the tests of his armor plate by the British naval authorities at Whale Island.

The test consisted of a six-inch armor plate being fired at by a 9.2-inch gun at the short distance of 120 feet, an armor-piercing capped shell being used. Though this was a very severe test, the shell made no impression on the armor plate at that distance, the plate, on the other hand, shattering the shell into a thousand fragments.

Mr. Richardson estimates that his production is at least 125 per cent. better than German armor plate, and declares that it ought to prove of incalculable value to the admiralty, with whom he has been negotiating for some time past.

He intends to give the O.R. Country the sole benefits of his patent. He has already purchased a site here for a plant, and says he is backed up by big men. He hinted that the admiralty was over the armor plate for the new Dreadnoughts until the result of the tests of his invention was known.

PRESS CENSORS AT CITY HALL

MAYOR AND WATER
COMMISSIONER'S VIEWS

Advice Given to Newspaper
Men on What Constitutes News.

What Water Commissioner Raymur and Mayor Hall know about water is a matter of opinion, but it is a certainty they know nothing about the work and duties of newspaper men. The mayor seems to be under an idea that city hall news is all saying nice things about his administration and, of course, facts or opinions of citizens who differ from him and the water commissioner are not news at all.

Both his worship and the water commissioner took the trouble to berate the press at the streets committee meeting last night and gave the newspaper men gratuitous advice. The water commissioner said all news men looked for was a story, and they did not care whether the facts were correct or otherwise.

The fault both seemed to labor under was that they forget news stories are often found in most unlikely places, even on barren soil. His worship has apparently a strong predilection for a press censorship for the city hall, judging by what he said last night. His idea was that instead of publishing letters from correspondents the papers should fill up their columns with what he designed news.

The matter came up over the publication of complaints of a news story in the Times relative to the digging up of Hillside avenue after the main had been laid and the drain filled in. The mayor said it was necessary to open up the drain and then close it again to allow the traffic to pass and wait till the department was ready to go on with the sewer connections from the old to the new main.

MOORS SIT AT GATE WAITING

BUT SPANISH TROOPS
TOO WARY TO GO OUT

News From Barcelona, Not

(Times Leased Wire.)
Madrid, July 31.—There is little change in the situation at Melilla to-day. The Moors are waiting outside the city for the Spanish forces to make an attack, but General Marina is expected to remain within the walls until reinforcements arrive.

Desultory fighting is going on daily, but no engagement of the proportions of the battle of July 27th, when 5,000 Moors and 1,000 Spaniards were killed, has taken place.

Every effort is being made to-day to brace up the tottering throne of King Alfonso. The government is in disfavor with the people throughout the kingdom, and it is expected that the king will take some radical action to regain the good will which he has lost through the war in Morocco.

It is reported that Premier Maun, in response to public clamor, will dismiss Minister of the Interior Lacerda, who is hated by the people because of his open dislike for the press.

Rigid censorship of the news of the situation in Morocco, and in the province of Catalonia brought the feeling against Lacerda to a crisis.

Barcelona, July 31.—Two hundred rioters were summarily tried, convicted by court martial and executed by the military authorities to-day. The men executed were captured at various times throughout the past few days and held as prisoners until to-day. This morning they were lined up against a wall and shot.

The authorities hope that by making these wholesale executions matters of public knowledge they may be able to overawe the revolutionists and put an end to the riots. Despite the shooting of the 200 prisoners to-day, however, the rioters were active in the suburbs, where they fired on houses and destroyed considerable property. A number of lives were

PRESENTATION TO MRS. HERD.

Ladies Aid Society of Congregational Church Remember Ardent Worker.

On Wednesday afternoon last a surprise picnic was given at the Gorge park by the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Congregational church in honor of their president, Mrs. George Herd. On the arrival of the president and a few friends a bountiful supper which had been prepared by the ladies was partaken of, when the secretary, Mrs. Vigellus, and vice president, Mrs. Sprague, presented Mrs. Herd on behalf of the society with a beautifully engraved gold and amethyst brooch, accompanied by the following address: "We desire to express our appreciation of your services, and our esteem for yourself, and hope we may have you with us as our president for many long years to come." As a mark of our appreciation, please accept this brooch. "Our heartfelt wishes for your happiness and success accompanies this little token."

"Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society, First Congregational church, 'EMILY B. VIGELLUS, Secretary.'"

Mrs. Herd, while much affected and surprised, replied in a few well chosen remarks, thanking the ladies for their kindness on this occasion as well as during all her term of office and although being brought there under false pretences, she also reminded them of the strenuous work still before them, closing by asking a good clap of the hands for their absent pastor, who had always been remembered in his prayers, but whom they would soon welcome home again.

The semi-annual meeting of the Victoria No. 2 Building Society was held last evening to receive the financial statement, together with the 16th drawing for an appropriation. The appropriation was No. 3, A.B.C. held by A. A. Aaronson, and amounting to $3,000.

Nothing has been heard of any damage from earthquake at the Canadian colony in the state of Guerrero, Mexico, and the cable news indicate that the severity of the shock was felt in the contrary direction. While Guerrero has had many earthquake shocks and towns, which have been frequently damaged, there has never been any trouble of that nature in the portion of the state occupied by the colony.

MISS HOTCHKISS AGAIN IN FORM

WITH MR. HOOPER
WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Finals in the Tennis Tournament Are Being Played This Afternoon.

As the tennis tournament nears its finish, the interest taken materially increases, and the semi-finals and finals in the mixed doubles were watched this morning with the keenest interest.

In spite of her accident yesterday, Miss Hotchkiss was in splendid form this forenoon, and although an excellent play put up by their opponents, she and Mr. Hooper were the winners in the semi-finals against Miss Ryan and Mr. Tyler.

In the finals in the mixed doubles, Mrs. Talbot played exceedingly well, and many thought she would come out a winner, but the odds were again in favor of the plucky little Californian, who bore her honors very unconcernedly.

The finals in the ladies' doubles are being watched this afternoon with special interest. The detailed results of this morning's play was as follows:

Mixed Doubles.

Miss Hotchkiss and Mr. Hooper beat

Miss Ryan and Mr. Tyler, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Hotchkiss and Mr. Hooper beat

Mrs. Talbot and Mr. MacRae, 6-1, 5-5.

The following finals are being played this afternoon:

The open singles for British Columbia championship—E. Schwengers (holder) vs. T. Tyler, challenger.

Ladies' singles for British Columbia championship—Miss Hotchkiss (holder) vs. Miss M. Pitts, challenger.

Men's doubles—Schwengers and Goward vs. Tyler and MacRae.

Ladies' doubles—Miss Hotchkiss and Miss Ryan vs. Mrs. Talbot and Miss Pitts.

The prizes will be presented by Mrs. Dunsmuir.

PIONEER PASSES AWAY TO-DAY

GAVIN HAMILTON
DIED AT HOSPITAL

He Was Well Known Officer of Hudson's Bay Company in North.

The death occurred early this morning of Gavin Hamilton, one of the pioneers of the province, at the advanced age of 74 years. He was visiting friends in this city when he was taken ill and was removed to the Jubilee hospital, where the death occurred.

Mr. Hamilton was well known in this city, and indeed throughout the province. He was one of the noble band who came here in the early days, and bore the hardships which always fall to the advance guard of civilization. He was born in January, 1835, at Stromness, Orkney Islands, coming to this city on the ship Norman Morrison, and arriving here in January, 1853. Among the party were several who have been well known here. The late Mr. Castleton, father of Fred. Castleton, being one of them.

For many years Mr. Hamilton served under the Hudson's Bay Company, and later became chief factor of New Caledonia, comprising all the country between the Fraser and Skeena rivers. His life was for the most part spent in the northern interior, first as an officer of the Hudson's Bay Company and later in private business.

Upon retiring from the service of the company he built a saw and flour mill which proved a great convenience to those on the Cariboo road. More recently he retired from business and made his headquarters at Lac La Hache. He leaves a widow and quite a large family.

The deceased was a man of the strongest will, a characteristic of most of the factors of the Hudson's Bay Company. He was most highly respected by the white and native population in the North.

GIVES CREDIT TO THE NAVY LEAGUE

Joseph Peirson Puts Forward
Claim on Behalf of Organization.

Joseph Peirson, of the local branch of the Navy League, takes exception to the claim put forth in the Colonist that the credit for calling attention to better docking facilities on the Pacific coast belongs to the board of trade. Mr. Peirson contends that the Navy League is entitled to the credit.

Mr. Peirson says on this point: "I find that the local branch of the Navy League at a meeting held December 4th, 1907, appointed a sub-committee, consisting of Capt. J. Devereux, Roland Stuart and Sydney A. Roberts, to obtain all information possible on docking and report. This report, which was of an exhaustive character, bearing date January 22nd, 1908, was duly forwarded to the Dominion government, and at a later date by request copies of this were forwarded to London for the information of sundry member of the Imperial House of Commons, with the hope of Imperial attention being given thereto."

Thomas J. Mullin, advertising manager of the San Francisco Call, was in the city last evening, leaving again to-day.

Another evidence that building is on the increase in Victoria is afforded by the fact that W. F. Drysdale, builder and contractor, has just had installed in his shop on North Park a planing plant consisting of up-to-date machines, a step made imperative by the growth of Mr. Drysdale's business. The plant will be devoted entirely to facilitating his building operations.

T. S. Silvers and wife were among the arrivals from Seattle on the Princess Charlotte, and are spending their holidays in the city, the guests of J. E. Coldwell, of the Walt Piano Co. Mr. Silvers is manager of the Elfers Music Co., Tacoma.

Messrs. Ernest C. Wailes and Edward Jackson leave to-morrow on a holiday trip to Seattle and other Coast points.

HILL'S HAND IS NOW SEEN CLEAR

OREGON TRUNK TO BRIDGE COLUMBIA

Confidential Representatives of Hill Are in Conference on Projects.

Portland, Oregon, July 31.—All doubt that James J. Hill is the power behind the anti-Harriman invasion of Central Oregon may be brushed aside. Too many developments bearing directly upon the gigantic struggle now being waged for this rich empire indicate this to admit of question.

The Oregon Trunk people are planning to bridge the Columbia to connection with the North Bank road. This has leaked out. Porter Brothers, who own the Oregon Trunk rights have been in conference with Attorney James S. Kerr, the Hill lawyer who whipped and routed Harriman's legal lights at every issue when the O. R. & N. was trying to block the Hill line down the Washington shore of the Columbia. It is known that Mr. Kerr has been engaged for some time picking up the odds and ends of the situation that may result in litigation between the Deschutes River road and the Oregon Trunk, and that one of the purposes of the conference between the Porters and Lawyer Kerr was to decide upon a course of action that shall furnish the Harriman people with a report of the result of his investigations to James J. Hill himself. The name Stevens used while in Oregon proves to be that of his private secretary, James P. Sampson, who was with him when he was chief engineer of the Panama Canal and Isthmian Railroad.

Strongest indications point to the fact that a bridge will be built across the Columbia near Seufert's cannery at the Narrows by the Oregon Trunk line, which makes it appear all the more plausible that some other than Porter Brothers will build the road for which Porter Brothers have the contract, or at least, is furnishing the money for whatever operations the contractors are instructed to see through.

SAVED BY HIS CORK LEGS.

Galveston, Texas, July 31.—William Davies, of Groveton, Texas, a legless man, 39 years old, furnished the most thrilling experience of any of the storm victims so far received. He was a guest at the Tarpon Fishing Pier, located on the north jetty, six miles from Galveston, in the Gulf, and with others was thrown into the sea when the big building was demolished by the hurricane.

Before the building collapsed Davies discarded his two cork legs and catching some of the debris was carried seaward on the storm tide about 15 miles. He was washed time and again from the raft. It finally broke up, and he was sent adrift in the Gulf. Searching about for debris to catch on to he was astonished to see his cork legs floating with the current, and grabbed them. With these supports under his arms he swam back into the bay and was carried by the tides into Galveston upper bay, 30 miles from where the pier collapsed, and was picked up by a boat. He was in the water 30 hours.

PALE, LAQUID GIRLS

WEAK BLOOD DURING DEVELOPMENT MAY EASILY CAUSE LIFE OF SUFFERING.

A Tonic Such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Is Needed to Build Up the Blood and Give New Strength.

At no time in her life does a girl stand in greater need of pure red blood and the strength which it alone can give her, than when she is developing into womanhood. It is then that any inherited tendency to anaemia or consumption needs only the least encouragement to rapidly develop. This danger is especially threatening to girls depressed by worry and cares. All these conditions quickly impoverish the blood and are among the most common causes of sickness among growing girls and young women. If at any time a girl finds that her strength is falling and she is becoming pale and nervous, has no ambition and is languid, it is a certain sign that her blood is failing to meet the demands upon it because it is impure and thin.

It is at a time like that that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable to young women and growing girls. They build up the blood, make it rich, red and pure, tone the nerves and give new health and strength to every part of the body. They have cured so many cases of this kind that they may truly be called a specific for the common diseases of girlhood. Miss Minnie Smith, Creighton street, Halifax, says: "I have proved that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are all that is claimed for them in cases similar to mine. About three years ago I suddenly began to run down. I grew so weak that I could hardly attend to my school studies. I suffered from headaches, my heart would palpitate violently at the least exertion, and my appetite was very fickle. I tried doctors' medicine and emulsions, but the treatment did not help me. Then I started taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking seven or eight boxes I was stronger than ever before. I feel that I owe my present good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I gratefully recommend them to other ailing girls."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The wickedness of other men we have always in our eye, but we cast our own over our shoulder.

MEXICO SHAKEN BY BAD 'QUAKE

SHOCKS WERE OF WIDE EXTENT IN THE SOUTH

Dead Were Many and Worst is Not Known—A Troubled Area.

Mexico City, July 31.—With Chilpancingo city destroyed, Acapulco partly razed, and the loss of life problematical, Central Mexico, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, an area of more than 100,000 square miles, was shaken at an early hour yesterday by a series of the most severe earth shocks felt in the region for the last quarter of a century.

The quake was severe in Mexico city, but not prolific in destruction. Reports telling of the loss of life are meagre, but the official figures thus far show 14 killed and more than a score mortally injured. Word from an American commercial traveller at Chilpancingo, state of Guerrero, says that city was destroyed, and the inhabitants are living in the open, suffering from the elements. The loss of life is not definitely known.

The shocks continued at Chilpancingo to-day, with subterranean rumbling and flashes of lightning. Acapulco, Guerrero, was partly razed.

According to the observatory records the first shock of the series was felt at 4:15 in the morning. It was severe, causing the bells of the many cathedrals of Mexico city to toll, breaking crockery, and in some cases levelling walls. The inhabitants of the capital had hardly recovered from their fright when a second and more severe shock caused an outpouring of nearly all the residents. This movement was of a twisting character, and was felt with marked severity for nine seconds. The tall buildings of the capital swayed, and in some instances cracked. The pavement opened in places, and in the poorer quarters a number of houses collapsed.

A message from G. Pyros, an American commercial traveller, has just been received from the town of Chilpancingo saying that the place has been completely destroyed. The inhabitants are living in the open, suffering greatly from the elements. The shocks continue, accompanied by subterranean rumblings and electrical storms.

The Federal Telegraph Company has just established communication with Acapulco, a seaport on the Pacific, in the state of Guerrero, with a population of about 5,000 persons, by the roundabout way of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec. The first message received read as follows: "The entire lower half of this city has been destroyed. There have been many casualties. The branch here of the National Bank is in ruins. The cashier is mortally injured."

Communication was then interrupted. All direct communication between Acapulco and Mexico city is cut off. Immense damage has been wrought on the west coast of Mexico. Communication with the cities of Chilpancingo and Chilpancingo is cut off, and it is feared they have both suffered heavily.

A heavy death list is feared in the state of Guerrero. It is rumored that 15 persons were killed in Santa Julia, a suburb of this city, making the total of deaths in the federal list 20, and the number of persons badly injured 35. These figures are not official. The new post office building and one cathedral have been badly damaged.

CHATEAU LAURIER

TO BE BEGUN AT ONCE

Contract Let to a New York Firm—Furnished Will Cost $1,500,000.

Ottawa, July 31.—The contract for construction of the Chateau Laurier has been awarded to the George A. Fuller Company, of New York. T. T. Amos, a representative of the firm, who will superintend the work, is in the city, and states that the company will take over the operations within the next few days. It will take fifteen months to complete the building.

The Chateau Laurier is to be a nine-story building, and one of the most imposing in the capital. Its foundation will be of granite, and the building of either Ohio or Indiana sand stone. It will face on Rideau street, and its length will run along Mackenzie avenue. It will take two months to complete the excavations. The contract price was not given out, but the cost, including furnishings, will be about $1,500,000. This is in accordance with the terms under which the city council granted the fixed assessment.

LAW STRICTLY ENFORCED.

Toronto Will Keep Women From Frequenting Chinese Resorts.

Toronto, July 31.—"The law against women frequenting Chinese resorts is going to be rigorously enforced," said Crown Attorney Corley in discussing the sentence of six months in the Mercer Reformatory imposed upon three young women in the police court. "Under ordinary procedure they can be sent to the Mercer for six months. But, if that does not deter the young white women of the city, a harsher penalty will be invoked. Under the Prison and Reformatory Act women can be sent down for two years, and this will be tried, if necessary."

GOVERNOR-GENERAL ON WAY.

Ottawa, July 30.—The Governor-General, accompanied by Lady Sybil Grey, Lord Lascelles and party, left at midnight by a special train of five cars for Seattle. Countess Grey, who is convalescing from an attack of scarlet fever, will join him in about two weeks.

STORY OF A TURTLE.

Revelstoke Man Carved His Initials on It Nineteen Years Ago.

Teeswater, July 31.—The News says: Away back in the summer of 1890 as a bunch of 8th concession school boys were playing on the banks of the Teeswater river, near where it crosses the road, they captured a large mud-turtle, that is, one with a shell about two feet square. Among the boys were Matt Scott, now of Revelstoke, B.C. Scott wished to make a record of the incident and with a pocket knife carved in the shell of the turtle his initials and the date—1890. The reptile was then given its liberty and was not again heard of for ten years. In the summer of 1890 it fell into the hands of Mr. Walter Pinnell, who, reading the record of its previous capture, carved on the back of the Turtle his initials and the date.

These facts were recalled a couple of weeks ago—nineteen years after it first made its acquaintance and nine years after its second adventure—when Mr. Thomas Elliot was the capturer of this old denizen of the river. He very naturally followed the example of Scott and Pinnell and added his initials to those already on the turtle's shell. The fact that each time, the turtle was caught within a comparatively short reach of the river, would indicate that these creatures live within a very limited area. If this one lives out the two hundred years which is said to be the life of a turtle, it may yet be carrying on its back a lengthy history.

IMPATIENT OF CRITICISM.

Our worthy friend the Mayor of Victoria in the kindness of his heart and from the depths of his experience has undertaken to define for the newspapers "what is news." His Worship thinks if less space were given in the press to mere expressions of opinion and more to the publication of real news, the general effects would be beneficial. Which may be interpreted as signifying that our Chief Magistrate resents criticism. His ideal way of transacting the business of the city, judging from what has transpired in the past, would be behind tightly closed doors, the public to be supplied with such information as it should be deemed capable of assimilating, the Mayor, of course, to be the chief censor. In that way the public would get "all the news fit to print," and things in general would proceed much more smoothly at the City Hall. That is unquestionably the Mayor's view, and he has to the limit of his power endeavored to put his ideas into force. But such ideas are not popular in these days of inconveniently advanced thought in municipal and other forms of popular government. The public acts upon the assumption that public men in the transaction of public business should have nothing to conceal from those whose work they are elected to do. People are impatient at the thought of Star Chambers and such institutions as were in high favor with the autocrats of fifty or a hundred years ago. Neither should Mayors or aldermen have two sets of opinions, one to be cautiously and tenderly whispered in secret meetings. The public is apt to be suspicious of men who have not the courage to give open expression to their sentiments. Whatever part of the Mayor's admonition is applicable to the conduct of the Times, it accepts with due humility. It confesses that as a collector and purveyor of news it is not perfect. But it is striving to improve. It will continue its efforts, and will pay special attention to that source of interesting news, the City Hall. It is not as resentful of criticism as the Mayor appears to be. It hopes its correspondents will continue to give expression to their confidence in it as a medium for the publication of their opinions, which we believe to be both interesting and valuable when conceived in a right spirit and couched in proper language.

THE SHOOTING SEASON.

The proclamation defining the seasons and the localities in which game may be taken in British Columbia is quite satisfactory as far as it goes, but it does not go quite far enough in the estimation of sportsmen who desire the preservation of game combined with reasonable facilities for the enjoyment of sport. Deer is not mentioned in the orders in council published in the last issue of the Gazette. We sincerely hope the deplorable mistake of last year is not going to be repeated by the Provincial Game Warden this year. Last year it was permissible to shoot deer during the month of September, while the season for taking all kinds of feathered game was not opened until October. The result was that under the guise of shooting deer game was slaughtered indiscriminately and that when sportsmen who had conscientiously complied with the law shouldered their guns in October they found the coveys decimated and what was left of the birds as wild as they used to be under the old system which permitted general shooting throughout the month of September. The general expectation was that the lesson thus learned would have taught the authorities wisdom. We trust this is merely an oversight on the part of the Provincial Game Warden and that the error will be corrected. The game, furred and feathered, ought all to be brought in on the same date.

The declaration of a close season for one year in the districts of North and South Saanich will receive general commendation. Whether through excessive shooting or the depredations of vermin, pheasants in those districts have all but been exterminated. Quail are reported fairly plentiful, but to permit the shooting of the smaller birds would simply be to license the lawless element to kill all kinds of birds. But in this matter also there appears to have been an oversight. The municipality of Oak Bay should surely also have been included in the order in council. We hope Mr. Williams will take these matters into his consideration and at the first opportunity have the errors corrected.

A TALE OF SORDID LIVES.

Chivalrous Harry K. Thaw, who killed a man during a brainstorm in vindication of his own honor and the good name of his most esteemed wife, may gain his freedom. The probabilities are that he will, eventually, go free. But the paths of he and his former partner in life must henceforth be far apart. Harry K. and Evelyn Nesbitt do not now recognize each other in court. Their demeanor has entirely changed since the days when the male partner in the notorious domestic drama (was it not rather a farce?) was on trial for his life in the courts of the United States. The solicitude of the husband for the wife and of the wife for the husband then was very touching, not to say pathetic. It caused tears to flow from the eyes of at least some of the members of two juries. It caused torrents of impassioned eloquence to gush from the lips of learned counsel for the defence. It was so appealing that tender-hearted women (not vulgarly curious or morbidly inquisitive women, of course) flocked in thousands to hear evidence bearing upon the every-interesting topic of the devotion of Darby to Joan and the sacrifices Joan made for dear, pure-hearted, low-born Darby. You remember how simple, sweet, young and innocent Joan looked in her school frocks and flowing, unconfined hair. How the gentlemen of the press used to enlarge in their own touching style upon the innocent looks and the unaffected bearing of this charming, unfortunate Joan. And such blase, hardened, scoffing, sneering wretches as these reporters and descriptive writers usually are. But charming Evelyn conquered them too as well as the Jurymen and the Judge. She acted the part to perfection. Now art is discarded and Evelyn and Harry are playing parts in the drama of real life. The truth is Evelyn does not care very much whether Harry remains in an asylum, goes to jail or walks to the scaffold or the electric chair so long as she gains her own freedom to do as she wills or to dispose of her charms to the best advantage. She wants a divorce, and the proceedings before the lunacy commission only interest her to the extent that they may assist towards that end. There is another Darby ready to take his place in the affections of once devoted Joan. Every chapter in the Thaw romance is base and sordid beyond precedent—almost.

The Times a considerable time ago advanced the idea that electric railways would be just the thing for developing Vancouver Island. They are light and can be operated over grades at which steam engines would balk. There seems to be plenty of water power upon the Island also, which we suggested the provincial government should reserve for the benefit of the public and not permit to pass entirely into the hands of private parties, mostly speculators. But we have it on expert authority that electric roads are not suited to pioneer purposes. They can be operated with great profit in sections which are thickly settled. Their weakness lies in the fact that the power which operates them must be continuous. In order to utilize this power to the best advantage cars or trains must be run frequently. This is not possible in sparsely settled districts. This opinion seems to be substantiated by facts. The great railways of this continent have thus far converted their lines into electrically-operated roads only in sections of country where the population is denser.

Buffalo Enquirer: Cupid, the mischievous uniter of hearts and maker of matches, has been pressed into the service of the suffragettes and henceforth shall be condemned, at least in Chicago, to play the part of a hold-up man. At a well-attended meeting of the Political Equality Union of that city, the first direct step in this matter was taken and hundreds of more or less good-looking girls of marriageable age signed the following ominous pledge: "We, the undersigned, believing as we do, that in the matter of intelligence women are equally endowed with man, hereby pledge ourselves not to marry any man who is not a believer in and active worker for the cause of equal suffrage for men and women."

Sir Robert Ball, the distinguished director of the Cambridge Observatory, pays a notable tribute to Simon Newcomb in the current issue of Nature. Newcomb was a Canadian, born in Nova Scotia, we believe, but gained his reputation in the United States and died in New York a couple of weeks ago. "Not since the death of Adams," writes Prof. Ball, "has the world been deprived of so illustrious an investigator in theoretical astronomy." After an appreciative review of Newcomb's life, Prof. Ball concludes: "Thus passes from the world the most conspicuous figure among the brilliant band of contemporary American astronomers. His inspiring example will long be treasured by those acquainted with his work."

We hope our neighbors in Seattle will not take it ill should Sir Wilfrid Laurier not find it convenient to become the "orator of the day" on a certain date at the A.-Y.-P. fair. The Premier of Canada is a very busy man. He is the acting head of about a dozen departments of the government at Ottawa at the present time. Besides the weather in Seattle, it is a far cry from Ottawa to Seattle, and we understand that between intervals of attending to state affairs, Sir Wilfrid is taking advantage of the Parliamentary recess to enjoy a little rest. Otherwise we are sure he would be most happy to oblige. Might we be permitted to nominate Mr. Bowser for the job. He also is a great orator, although his fame may not have wafted its way across the Sound.

At a dinner given in Paris in honor of Dr. Alexis Carrel, of the Rockefeller Institute, the guest was asked his opinion of the Calais law, permitting a condemned criminal to choose between execution and three experiments with a view to discovering a method for curing consumption. Dr. Carrel unhesitatingly endorsed the law, and said he would go further and some day ask for the enactment of a law permitting surgical experiments on condemned criminals. He believed that some American States would grant the request, as it was most important to science that surgeons have the opportunity to study the method of conservation of the tissues and organs, and also the secret of reviving them.

It is said Colonel Roosevelt, who in African jungles has proved himself one of the mightiest of hunters, is coming home to track the Tammany tiger to his lair and of course to put him out of business. That is to say, the Colonel will run for Mayor of New York. St. George's job was an easy one compared with that planned for the slaughterer of many wild beasts.

The president is pleased with the tariff bill. The protectionists are not greatly displeased. Consequently the play may be accepted as a distinct success. Everybody is satisfied.

What Other People Think

MR. PEMBERTON'S POSITION.

To the Editor—I would like to make some explanation with reference to my offer to the city of free rock. I made two offers: One for the city to take out rock in the vicinity of the wireless station on Gonzales Hill, and replace it with soil of any kind as the opportunity of the city offered. This offer the engineer and Mr. Turner investigated and told me they did not think it a good one. Later on, I made them an offer of rock from the water front of Gonzales Park. This was to cut down some rock with the object of opening up the beach drive from Shoal Bay to Foul Bay. I did not enter into any details with them, because they did not give me an opportunity to do so; and, so far as I know, they did not investigate it at all. I thought, as the city was hard pressed for rock, that this would have been in its best interests, and would also have been in the interests of that neighborhood, where the city had been already petitioned to grade and macadamize certain roads.

Although the city may have made a good bargain with Mr. Cera, I do not think they were wise not to look into the proposition and give it consideration; and, further, I do not think they now know enough about what I offered them to pass judgment on my proposal.

I am, thank you, the press for giving the matter publicity.

PATRIOTISM AND SUNDAY LAWS.

To the Editor—Your correspondent, "Watchman," asks a question which is not easy to answer. He raises the question as to the motives actuating those who desire to see a Sunday closing law enforced. Are they religious or patriotic, he asks. If the former, I judge from his letter, he would oppose the attempt to enforce such a law, while if the latter he might look upon the movement in a different light.

It is probably a case of many men of many minds. But what difference does it make so long as the result of such a law when enforced is beneficial? Just now the chief fight that is being made against a Sunday closing law comes from certain "citizens of foreign origin." We have enacted legislation in other directions to compel these citizens, as well as others, to comply with our ideas of good citizenship. We coerce them into sending their children to school, whether they wish or not. We punish them by fines and otherwise if they keep their dwellings and places of business in unsanitary conditions, or if they spit upon the sidewalk, or in their cars, if they go indecently clothed, or in other ways fail to comply with our standards of living. Why is it not just as right and just as necessary that we should enact laws to compel them to live up to our ideas of good citizenship as shown in the proper observance of Sunday?

Just at present Spain is presenting to the world a splendid object lesson of what a nation becomes which persistently fails to live up to the standards of which the ten commandments form the basis. In Spain Sunday is largely a day devoted to pleasures and self-gratification, to bull fights and all such things. What is taking place in Spain to-day could not occur among us of the Anglo-Saxon race. Why? What makes the difference?

Again, if we want another example, let us contrast the conditions of living found to-day in the United States and Canada on the one hand with those of Mexico and Central and South America on the other. Wherein lies the difference? What is the cause of it all? It is not in climate, nor in fertility of soil, or in extent of territory. It is in our standards of living, our ideas of what constitute good citizenship, in the fact that the whole fabric of our civilization is framed in accordance with the spirit of the ten commandments and the Sermon on the Mount.

Ask any well informed American what has been the effect upon the life of that nation of the puritanism of the Pilgrim Fathers. It has spread everywhere over the nation and has been an important factor in shaping its legislation and moulding its national life. What has been the net result upon the nation of this Puritan spirit? Has it been beneficial or injurious? The question needs no answer.

It is too late in the day to talk about interfering with the personal liberty of the individual. All such talk is simply nonsense. There is no such thing as absolute personal liberty in civilized society. We have enacted laws which in a thousand ways abridge the personal liberty of the individual, as already shown, and all good citizens approve of them. The lines we have drawn around our "citizens of foreign origin," as well as others, to compel them to live according to our standards will stand one more clinch when we force them, if force be necessary, to observe Sunday according to our ideas.

The Sunday question is therefore not one of religion. It is mainly a question of patriotism. I hope, therefore, that your correspondent, "Watchman," will see his way clear to give us the benefit of his valuable and much needed assistance in securing the enforcement of the Lord's Day Act.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING

IN ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

Mr. Kaye, of Vancouver, Weds Young Lady of This City.

A very pretty and fashionable wedding was solemnized this afternoon in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, when Miss Gertrude May Macfarlane of this city was united in marriage with Mr. Alexander Kaye of the Dominion assay office, Vancouver, the Rev. Leslie Clay officiating.

The church was very beautifully decorated for the occasion, under the capable direction of Mrs. J. B. McKilligan, assisted by a member of the bride's young friends. Sweet ferns and large double Marguerites were massed along the choir railing, and on the pulpit platform, and the ceremony was performed under a large floral arch, composed of lilacs and other white flowers, suspended from a beautiful arch composed of pink sweet peas, ferns, and sprigs of gypsophila, the whole effect being exceedingly picturesque and pretty.

As the bridal party entered the church Mr. Joseph Longfield, who presided at the organ, played the bridal march from Lohengrin, and while they took their places the choir sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." During the marriage ceremony the choir also sang, very softly, "Oh, Father All Creating." As the company left the church Mendelssohn's wedding march pealed forth.

The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Mr. Andrew Stewart, looked very beautiful in a diaphanous gown of cream liberty satin, which was richly trimmed with beautiful old English lace. With this she wore a handsome Brussels net veil, which had been worn by her mother. This was becomingly held in place by sprays of orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

She was attended by four bridesmaids, all of whom wore very pretty cream-crepe de Paris dresses trimmed with Grecian embroidery, cream net lingerie hats, and carried bouquets of sweet peas. The bridesmaids were Miss Vera Macfarlane, sister of the bride; Miss Enid Agassiz and the Misses Marjorie and Carol Kaye Puckle, all of whom were cousins of the bride. Mr. Griffin, of Vancouver, supported the groom.

Mrs. Macfarlane, the bride's mother, wore a very pretty costume of green Rajah silk, richly trimmed with jewelled net and embroidery and a most becoming black picture hat with large plume.

A reception is being held and wedding breakfast served at the home of the bride's mother, "Pittreave," Sylvia street, which has been very elaborately decorated for the occasion. The reception hall is massed with ferns and mosses, and graceful sheaves of green oats, the whole brightened with gay clusters of nasturtiums. An arch over the foot of the stairway has an exceptionally pretty effect.

In the drawing room the grate is banked with ferns and moss, and a pretty pink and green color scheme has been carried out with sweet peas, pinks and roses. The dining room is most dainty and pretty, being done entirely in ferns and Marguerites, of which great quantities have been used, the effect being heightened by large sprigs of feathery gypsophila. After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Kaye will take up their residence in Vancouver. The bride, who is exceedingly popular in social circles here, will be much missed by her many friends. She will travel in a smartly tailored suit of cream serge, trimmed with white silk braid, and touches of black. With this she will wear a black plumed picture hat.

CITY LIBERALS WILL WELCOME MR. FISHER

Dominion Minister of Agriculture Will Be Tendered a Reception.

There was a good attendance of members last night at the quarterly meeting of the Victoria Liberal Association, which was held in the Liberal rooms on Government street, President R. B. McKicking in the chair. Several new members were received into the association, the total enrollment of additional members so far this year being greatly in excess of any previous years. The association is vigorous and the utmost enthusiasm prevails among the membership.

In view of the fact that Hon. Sydney Fisher, minister of agriculture, is shortly expected in the city, the association decided to take steps to tender him a reception, and if the length of his stay permits, arrangements will be made to have him address a meeting. The possibility of a provincial election was touched on and the subject canvassed generally. It was the unanimous view of the meeting that a Liberal victory can be won here if every member of the party gets out and works for the cause of good government. Rousing speeches were made by local leaders and by several of the rank and file.

The matter will be dealt with more fully at the next meeting.

ENJOYABLE PICNIC.

Pleasant Afternoon and Evening Spent at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk.

A most enjoyable basket picnic, under the Ladies of the Macabees, was held on Thursday afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk, Esquimalt road. The event was a grand success, and was well attended. During the afternoon boating and bathing were indulged in, the grounds of the host and hostess, fronting on the water, which afforded an excellent opportunity for these forms of amusement. Ice cream and cake was served.

Later a long table laden with eatables was laid out on the lawn. The members were filled twice over. After this party for the most part returned to the water and resumed the boating and bathing until dark, when a bonfire was kindled which was heartily enjoyed by all, especially the younger section of the company. At night the hospitable home was thrown open by Mr. and Mrs. Kirk, and light refreshments served. The remainder of the evening was spent with music and songs.

Before "good night" was said a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the host and hostess for their kindness on the occasion, which was but one of the many evidences Mr. and Mrs. Kirk have given of deep interest in the order. Votes of thanks were tendered Mrs. Pick, a sister of Mrs. Kirk, and the Misses May and Dorothy Kirk.

—Members of the Arion Club have been notified to attend a special rehearsal to be held at Watt's Music Hall on Monday evening at 8 o'clock sharp, to practice for the concert to be given in aid of the King's Daughters, who are holding a garden party at Mrs. H. Croft's residence on Tuesday evening.

NEW CREAMERY IN OPERATION

UP-TO-DATE QUARTERS FOR THE FACTORY

Institution That is Doing Great Work for City and Environs.

On Monday last the Victoria Creamery Company moved into their commodious new premises on Broad street. This building was erected especially for them at a cost of $40,000, and is owned largely by the farmers in the neighborhood, with a small amount of stock owned by Victoria business men.

Anyone not having visited this new institution can have little idea of the importance of the business and the splendid way in which the place is fitted up. The building is 120 feet long with a frontage of 60 feet and almost the whole of the ground floor and basement are occupied by the company. The hall on the second floor and one store occupying half the frontage, are being rented.

There is a store in front which attends to the retail business of the company and immediately behind that is the large main work-room. In this room are the big cream vats into which the cream is weighed and from which it passes by the force of gravity to the churns in the basement.

Further back on the ground floor the two large ice cream freezers are operated by electric power, while in one corner of the same room is the turbine bottle washer and sterilizer.

The feature of the whole establishment, however, is the refrigerator. This is divided into three separate sections, one for butter, one for cream, and the other for ice cream. The rooms can be kept at about the zero mark, which makes it perfectly impossible for anything contained therein to spoil. To the ordinary person it might seem an easy thing to build a wall that would keep the contents cold, but the building of these walls was a most intricate and expensive operation. Take, for instance, the floor, which is very similar in construction to the walls. First a layer of eight inches of cinders was laid. On this four inches of concrete with a layer of asphalt covering it. Next came six inches of cork to prevent heat passing in. On this, too, was a layer of asphalt and last of all a layer of four inches of concrete. Such a wall as that makes it easy to shut out the heated air.

The churns in the basement are able to handle 2,500 lbs. each, and they churn every day except Wednesdays. A fifteen horse-power boiler is used for steaming purposes generally.

Nine years ago when the creamery first opened just outside the city, they had twenty-five patrons. To-day they have 125 people who send milk or cream for manufacture. The difficulty, however, is to get the raw material. There is plenty of market for the product. Yesterday at 4 o'clock every pound of butter made that day had been sold. "More milk, more cream," is continually the cry of Manager Snelling, to whose capable work the success of the institution has been very largely due.

The creamery employs ten men all the time, and when the new building is used to its limit more than twice that number will be employed. Six thousand dollars a month is paid out to farmers who send in the milk, and the highest price is paid of any creamery in Canada. The cream comes not only from the immediate vicinity of Victoria, but from all over British Columbia, and from as far away as E. & N. railway, and from as far away as Sooke. From the latter place it is brought in on the stage.

The secret of success of the Victoria Creamery Company is that they supply everything perfectly clean and of the best possible quality. The barns and yards of the farmers are inspected regularly, and if they are not properly kept the company refuse to buy cream. The utmost precautions are taken to insure the public a clean and wholesome food.

The creamery is one of the industries that is not only benefiting Victoria directly, but is indirectly affording an opening for the industry of the farm round about.

TALE OF ISLANDER BEATING OLYMPIAN

Local Correspondent Tells How Captain John Irving Won Out.

A story was published a few days ago in the American newspapers and copied into the Colonist in which an old parson was made to tell the story of a race between the steamer Olympian and Yosemite, in which the American steamer is said to have beaten the Yosemite by half an hour between Port Townsend and Victoria. A correspondent who is anxious for the honor of Canada, tells a tale of how the tables were turned upon the Americans who, sore at being beaten used unfair means to get even. The following is the letter:

To the Editor:—That wonderfully pretty Yankee story, given so much prominence by the Colonist in the issue of the 28th instant, is all very well if there was not a sequel to it. Those who know Captain John Irving might be sure he would not be so easily vanquished. He had the Olympian built on purpose to humble the Olympian, and he did it. The writer, along with about 1,000 excursionists, went to Seattle on the Olympian soon after the big fire there in 1889 or 1890 (I am not sure which). When we arrived at Port Townsend the Olympian was leaving there for Seattle. She was allowed to get on ahead. It was evident from the continuous black smoke she was doing her best. After passing Point Barrow we were abreast. Then began the run, officers of a rope to tow, etc. We passed her both boats going their best—and landed in Seattle fully half an hour ahead of the Olympian with a broom at our mast-head. Of course it was talked about in Seattle that day. The Americans were sore, and sought out some revenge. The steamer was to leave on the return trip at 7 p. m. Nearly all were on board at 6.35, when a U. S. marshal accompanied by his men appeared and seized the Olympian, his papers forbidding the boat for some trifling action taken on the return trip against her some hours before; but to make it the more offensive he delayed serving the process until the last moment. You may imagine the feelings of those on board. I can only reproduce what was said or felt. Captain Irving had to go ashore, hunt up lawyers and judge (they had all gone home hours before), have the necessary papers made out, and hand them up in order to have the Olympian released. This incident delayed us at least two hours. No one was allowed to come on or leave the Olympian during that time. All this primarily because the Olympian had beaten the flyer Olympian so badly. The three steamers are now all wrecks, but we have Captain John Irving still with us.

FOR HUDSON-FULTON BIG CELEBRATION

Ten Squadrons of Vessels to Take Part, Including British Warships.

Plans for the opening day of the Hudson-Fulton celebration Saturday, September 25th, have been completed and are announced in detail in a general order issued by Captain Jacob W. Miller, chairman of the naval parade committee.

It is roughly estimated that approximately 800 vessels will participate in the events of the opening day of the celebration and a fair indication of public interest taken is the statement of a prominent ship broker that there is not a single properly licensed passenger steamer registered at New York that is open to charter for that day and that New England and the Atlantic coast as far south as Norfolk is being drawn upon for steamers to in part supply the demand.

In the line will be all of the United States war vessels of the Atlantic squadron which are now in actual necessary station duty; the Drake, Argyle, Duke of Edinburgh and Black Prince of the British navy under command of Rear Admiral Fred T. Hamilton; one Italian cruiser and the Italian navy's cadet ship; the Utrecht of the Royal Dutch navy; a gunboat of the Mexican navy and many other war vessels of other foreign powers which official details have not yet been received by the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission.

The vessels participating will be divided into ten squadrons, all under the general command of Captain Miller, but each with a separate flag officer of Captain Miller's staff in direct command.

BOYCOTT IS BEING ABANDONED BY CHINESE

Two Passengers for Celestial Empire Leave on Shinano Maru.

There have been a number of indications recently that there is a slackening in the boycott against Japanese ships and Japanese goods by the Chinese. The Chinese are rather slow to give up, but they seem to be realizing that it is doing them no good to continue the war. To-day the Japanese steamer Shinano Maru is leaving for the Orient and she will take two Chinese among her passengers. One of these will be Paul Chow, assistant editor of the Wa Ping Yat Po, the Chinese daily newspaper published in Vancouver.

The Shinano Maru left Vancouver this morning at 10 and will probably sail from the outer dock this afternoon about 5.

FISH NOW RUNNING WELL IN STRAITS

Twelve Thousand Sockeyes Taken From One Trap Last Night.

Fishing is improving somewhat. Finlay, Durham & Brodie lifted their Otter Point trap last night and made a pretty good haul, taking out 12,000 sockeyes. This is the highest lift reported so far, and shows that the fish are coming all right, but were simply delayed at first, probably owing to the cold weather prevailing.

Capt. Matthews has not been doing very well this year, but he took 6,000 sockeyes yesterday, and some of the other traps have also been catching a good number.

The Fraser river should be heard from soon. Several of the runs have passed the trap without leaving any tale, and that should be all the better for the Fraser river, unless the Point Roberts traps get them all.

STEAM SCHOONER ON ROCKS AT ARENAS

Winnebago Will Probably Be a Total Loss—Sixteen Men on Board.

San Francisco, July 31.—The steam schooner Winnebago, with Capt. Turner and a crew of 15 men aboard, struck a submerged rock off Point Arenas in a dense fog early today, and it is feared she is a total loss.

Details of the accident are lacking. Meagre reports have been received here by the Coast Steamship Company, owners of the vessel, but they fail to state whether or not the captain and crew were rescued.

The Winnebago was loaded with lumber, which she was carrying from Everett, Wash., to San Pedro, Cal., and this fact leads to the hope that she is still afloat.

Two relief ships were sent to the scene of the wreck by the Coast Steamship Company as soon as news of the accident was received.

CHINESE PIRATES. Report of Ravages Brought to San Francisco by M. S. Dollar.

Officers of the steamer M. S. Dollar, which arrived at San Francisco a day or two ago, fifty days out from Hongkong, carrying 800 tons of merchandise and no passengers, report heavy seas off the China coast and a terrific storm two days out from the sailing port.

They also report that numerous Chinese pirates are ravaging the coasts and holding up smaller vessels near Canton and Hongkong.

"The Chinese government, they state, is making every effort to suppress the sea marauders."

CHANGES IN C. P. R. Engineers' Departments on Steamers Have Undergone Some Exchanges.

Chief Engineer Brownlee, Second Engineer Stacy and Mate Bottrill of the Princess Charlotte are taking a short holiday, while Chief Engineer Heritage of the Victoria and Mate Slater of the Princess May are in charge of the departments, with the third engineer from the Victoria as second on the Charlotte. Mate Saliny of the Amur has gone to the May and there have been other changes.

There is no information as to whether the changes are of a permanent character but it is understood some of them at any rate are only for the purpose of giving the officers a holiday.

TIDAL WAVE CAME UP ON WATERFRONT

Greatest Damage at Acapulco, Came as an After-clap.

(Times Leased Wire.) City of Mexico, July 31.—Reports received here to-day state that a tidal wave followed the great earthquake yesterday and engulfed the waterfront and a large section of Acapulco. People are rendered panic-stricken by the damage wrought by the series of tremors and many are fleeing from this country.

Search of the ruins of Chilpancingo and Guerrero will add to the list of casualties. It is considered certain Hidalgo Titlan, in the state of Vera Cruz, is reported to be almost totally destroyed by the tidal wave.

Accurate reports of the damage done cannot be obtained until telegraphic communication is re-established. Reports from the "quake zone indicate that refugees from the stricken cities are suffering severely. The people are living in the open and many of them have neither food nor sufficient clothing.

Wide damage is reported by runners as having affected Toluca, Cuicula, Chautla, Ampe, Juthamala and other towns on the north Balsas river.

More Quakes Reported.

Washington, July 31.—Following the results of the earthquake which destroyed several towns and killed hundreds of persons in central Mexico early yesterday, advice received by the state department to-day indicates that two more tremors, of greater severity than any of those previously felt, shook the same territory again last night. In a message to the state department, Ambassador Thompson says:

"Two long, severe earthquakes occurred in the Valley of Mexico last night and probably covered all of the territory between here and the Pacific coast. The wires are in bad shape but it is reported that Acapulco was entirely destroyed. Probably a dozen persons were killed here."

Vice-Consul Tappan at Acapulco wired:

"Severe earthquakes. Great loss of property. Consultants damaged. Few lives lost. No Americans injured."

TOO FREE WITH FIREARMS.

Boys Play With Revolvers and One Is Dead.

Dayton, Ohio, July 31.—John Holman, 15-year-old son of Justice of the Peace J. W. Holman, was shot and almost instantly killed last night by his playmate, Willie Dickinson, son of a wealthy sheepman. Dickinson is 16 years of age.

The boys were sitting on the edge of a bed at the Dickinson home, examining their revolvers. The conversation drifted to accidents caused by carelessness in handling firearms.

"It's a wonder I haven't been killed long ago," remarked the Holman boy. "I have always been so careless with guns."

Before the last words fell from his lips the boy fell backward mortally wounded. A bullet from his playmate's revolver had penetrated his right lung.

"When John remarked that he considered himself lucky not to have been killed, I started to put my revolver away," said young Dickinson. "I was conscious the gun was not loaded and I pulled the trigger and John was shot."

CHAMPIONSHIP TENNIS.

Lake Forest, Ill., July 31.—Long of California, this morning defeated Bundy of California, in the tennis single's championship series, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1. Long and Emerson, of Cincinnati, are meeting this afternoon in the challenge round after the western championship singles.

Both the mayor and the water commissioner raced over the course in fine style, taking the turns on two feet, but as they discovered there was no one else with them in the race, and that they were going the wrong way round the streets, bridges and sewers courted they pulled up after a hard drive, both having run their race. The applause wasn't deafening.

The publication of a letter in the city press from C. C. Pemberton was brought up by Chairman Turner, who made the following explanation in regard to that gentleman's letter on rock offered the city rock-free on condition that they removed it and graded the surface and replaced the rock with two feet of top soil. He had looked over the proposition and quickly came to the conclusion that it was absurd. The top dressing would cost the city about 45 per cent more than it was in a position to purchase from Mr. Camberton crushed for $1.50 per yard delivered.

In the face of this, he said, the city could not dream of accepting the offer. Mr. Pemberton had made an alternative proposition that the city could have the rock on condition it would grade the streets through the property. This had been found practically as absurd as the first proposal, and the city had decided not to accept it. Mr. Pemberton's letter to the committee complained that he had not been answered.

Asquith, Forbes, Victor and Cecil streets residents want local improvements. A special committee on the matter last night reported to the streets, bridges and sewers committee that the residents should pay the whole cost of the work if it was undertaken. It will rest until such time as the residents agree. At present residences are scarce on the streets named.

Fernwood road residents who asked that the sidewalk be made right up to the fence line will be informed they can have the same if they pay the extra cost.

R. L. Drury on behalf of the Dominion Trust Company, Vancouver, asked for permission to construct a cement sidewalk across the grass plot on the northeast side of the causeway, where the company proposes to erect a large modern office building. They will be asked to forward a plan.

The B. C. Electric Company will receive permission to erect poles on Dallas road near Cook street. The poles, however, will remain at the pleasure of the council.

HOUSE TAKES UP THE TARIFF BILL

There Will Be a Lengthy Debate, to Conclude To-night.

(Times Leased Wire.) Washington, July 31.—Passage of the tariff bill in its present form was practically assured to-day when a special rule designed for that end was adopted by the House by a vote of 36 to 11. It provides that none of the report of the conference committee shall be open to points of order.

At noon leaders of the House said that a canvass showed a majority of port by insisting that the full report be read. It was provided that a general debate on the report should continue until 8 o'clock to-night unless suspended by general consent. About 25 Democratic senators were in conference to-day and decided not to filibuster on the tariff bill, although they expect to debate the bill at some length, so that the party's attitude toward it may go on record.

Monday, of Wyoming, delayed the report by insisting that the full report be read. It consists of 75 printed pages and its reading occupied considerable time.

DISASTROUS FLOODS

RAGE IN MANCHURIA Hundreds Reported Drowned in Changchun Province—River Rising.

(Times Leased Wire.) Tokyo, July 31.—A terrible flood is raging in the province of Changchun, Manchuria. Information received here to-day states that several hundred people have been drowned and thousands of houses submerged and swept away in the city of Kirin alone.

Kirin is situated at the head of navigation of the Heilong river. It is 240 miles from Mukden. The river is still rising and the people are terror-stricken. Damage above Kirin is unknown, but it is reported that there has been a great loss of life, both above and below the stricken city.

THE LOGICAL STEP.

Destruction of Airships the Next Defense Problem.

London, July 31.—Official circles are excited to-day over a statement made on high authority that an army officer at Fort Omaha, Neb., has invented an electric apparatus designed to destroy aerial war craft.

According to the statement the machine will project through the air a column of electricity of almost any desired force, and direct it at any desired object within a radius of several hundred yards.

The many friends of Miss Irene Armstrong of 402 Jessie street, Victoria West, will be pleased to learn that the operation for appendicitis which she underwent on Tuesday last has proved entirely successful. Dr. Frank Hall was the operating surgeon.

MISS MAZZONI IS WINNER OF MILE

ARCHIBALD RIDES CONTRASTING RACES

Miss Picnic and Sempioelle Both Win at Long Prices.

The mile race at the Willows yesterday was won under a splendid ride by Archibald on Miss Mazzoni from a moderate field, the only other horse in the race with any class being Ed Ball second. Archibald gave El Paso the start the first time round refusing to force his mount to the front and laying on the Brant horse's withers till Ed Ball raced for the position passing round the water tank turn. Then Archibald sent Mazzoni past El Paso and occupied the same position he had to that horse with Ed Ball. Approaching the last turn he raced Ed Ball for the inside position and got the best of the deal. From there he kept on and Ed Ball behind him till the judge's box. Dave Weber, lying third all the way, got third money.

Archibald also won with Queen Alamo and Blameless in the four and a half and the five furlongs. Blameless had nothing of any particular class and out-stepped the field by many lengths. She needed no nursing for the final as nothing was near enough to challenge. Ten Row and Mi Derecho got the positions.

Archibald's splendid riding in three races was up as a direct contrast to his handling of Ornate on which he ran second to Sempioelle in the six furlongs. Passing the stand he had a clear run for the inside rail to the turn, but held the horse back letting Sempioelle get to the outside and giving her the rail position. Thereafter he seemed to work Ornate into every pocket possible and when Sempioelle had the race run, Archibald came out on Ornate and raced the field for second position, beating Chaplet by a length.

Miss Picnic was out to win and her backers collected at 8 to 1. She beat Ketchel and Lady Elizabeth. Lycurgus put the mare to the front and let her go. There was nothing in the race to catch her. Nellie Racine surprised the field and favorite, Belle Kinney, which was reckoned to have quite a burst of speed over five furlongs. The favorite, however, was beaten by All Alone for place money. Detailed results of yesterday's racing are:

CUTS OUT HORSE RACING.

Mexico Will Not Permit Meets Over California Border.

Washington, D. C., July 31.—Ambassador Thompson at Mexico City has notified the state department that the Mexican government will hereafter prevent horse racing at Tijuana, near San Diego, Cal.

This action on the part of the Mexican government is the result of a protest made against the project of prominent turfmen to establish a race track at Tijuana, following the passage of the anti-race track gambling law by the California state legislature.

AN ACCIDENT TO MISS HOTCHKISS

MISS PITTS WINS

THE FINAL ROUND

Championships Being Played Off During This After- noon.

An accident to Miss Hotchkiss, champion tennis player on the Belcher street courts yesterday afternoon may have considerable bearing on the result of the championship match between herself and Miss Pitts this evening. Should the little champion feel the effects of her collision with Macrae, Miss Pitts may have a big handicap in the final match.

Playing in the semi-finals of the mixed doubles she collided with Macrae, who was engaged on the next court. Miss Hotchkiss went after a smart cross-line return from the opposing players, and Macrae was engaged in bringing off a difficult stroke. The pair were so engrossed with their work that they collided before they realized the danger. Macrae being heavily built and nearly six feet, Miss Hotchkiss got the worst of the accidental collision, and after a short rest had to retire from the game and went back to the Empress by automobile. This morning the champion is better, but what effects the accident will have on her play are problematical, as the injury affected an old trouble caused some time ago through a kick from a horse. She will defend her title this afternoon, but the accident gives Miss Pitts a possible handicap.

Miss Pitts yesterday earned the right to play the champion by defeating Miss Ryan, of California, in the ladies' singles 6-2, 6-4, 7-5, and won the final of the ladies' round. Miss Pitts' game yesterday was right up to her best standard.

Tyler, the Spokane player, won three straight sets from Cardinal in the men's singles, and earned the right to challenge Schwengers for the British Columbia championship. His victory was not unexpected.

The finals will be played this afternoon as follows:

Doubles—Schwengers and Goward vs. Tyler and Macrae.

Ladies' Doubles—Miss Hotchkiss and Miss Ryan vs. Miss Talbot and Miss Pitts.

Ladies' Singles—Miss Pitts vs. Miss Hotchkiss.

Singles—Schwengers vs. Tyler.

Yesterday's results are:

Men's Singles.

Semi-finals—Cardinal beat Cambie 6-2, 5-7, 6-2.

Finals—Tyler beat Cardinal 6-3, 6-0, 6-2.

Men's Doubles.

Semi-finals—Tyler and Macrae beat Rhodes and Cardinal 3-6, 7-5, 6-3; Schwengers and Goward beat Cambie and Lowry 6-2, 6-3.

Ladies' Singles.

Finals—Miss M. Pitts beat Miss Ryan 6-2, 6-4, 7-5.

Ladies' Doubles.

Second round—Mrs. Talbot and Miss M. Pitts beat Mrs. Crow Baker and Miss V. Pooley 6-1, 6-4.

Semi-finals—Mrs. Talbot and Miss Pitts beat Miss Bell and Miss Jukes 6-3, 6-0.

Mixed Doubles.

Semi-finals—Mrs. Talbot and Macrae beat Miss M. Pitts and Lowry 6-2, 7-9, 6-3.

TARIFF REFORMERS HONOR THEIR CHIEF

Chamberlain Birthday Celebration at Home of James Buchanan.

The Pall Mall Gazette thus describes a celebration of the birthday of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, which was taken part in by a large number of his Tariff Reform friends:

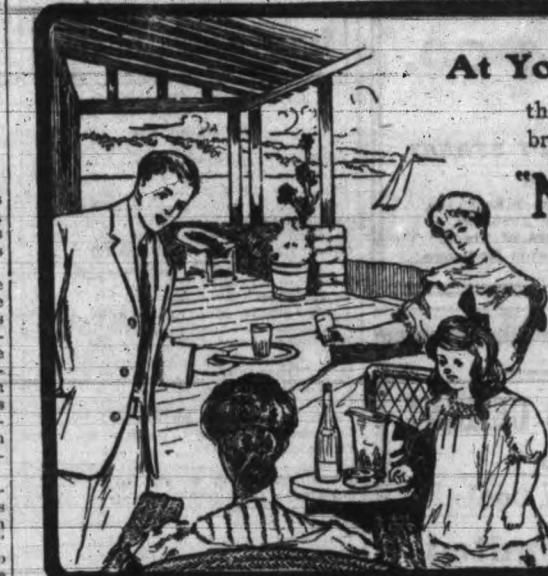

"A straw may show which way the wind blows. So also may such a huge function as that in which Mrs. James Buchanan, of Lavington Park, Petworth, Sussex, was the hostess, at the Albert hall. The scene was a wonderful one, and seldom has a statesman been so honored in this country as was Mr. Chamberlain by this huge gathering of thousands of persons bent on celebrating his seventy-third birthday."

All round the hall hung great banners inscribed with passages from his speeches: "We are not going to remain for ever the football of other nations"—the famous watchword; "Learn to think imperially"—and, again, "The people of this country are tired of lying down to be trampled upon." There was a trumpet-call in every one of them; and the huge company—to be numbered in thousands—was, as it were, part of an army marching to victory.

The floor of the hall had been raised to the level of the organ-box, and was hung round with paintings, furnished with statuary and palms, and amply provided with seats, with the result that the effect was that of a colossal drawing-room. In front of the organ blazed a great electric-lighted horse and figures of fire: "July 8, 1909." And Mrs. Buchanan, who was accompanied by a brilliant little group of friends, including Lord and Lady Ridley, received her throng of guests at a point near the centre of the arena, and had a kindly grasp of the hand for every one, and often a pleasant word or two.

The company represented every section of the Tariff Reform party, and among those who had accepted invitations were the Duke of Argyll, Lord Alington, Lord Amhurst, Sir Theodore and Lady Angier, the Earl of Aylesford, Lord Cliford, Lord Eustace Cecil, Lord Clifford of Chudleigh, Lady Edward Churchill, Lord Deerehurst, the Marchioness of Donegal, the Earl and Countess of Dartrey, Lord Farquhar, Lord Forester, Sir E. and Lady Fremantle, Lord Grenfell, Viscount Galsworthy, Viscount Hardinge, the Earl of Hardwicke, Viscount Hill, Viscount Hood, Lord Hyde, the Countess of Kilmorey, the Earl of Kintore, Lord Llangattock, the Earl of Londesborough, the Earl and Countess of Lindsey, Lord Mexborough, Lord Midleton, the Earl and Countess of Malmesbury, Lord Norton, Lord Northcliffe, the Earl of Rosse, the Earl and Countess of Ranfurly, Lord Sondes, Sir George Stirling, the Earl of Strathmore and Kilmhorne, and Lord Templemore. Acceptances had been received from between three and four hundred members of parliament and candidates; and the scene was one to fill them with the liveliest hopes for the result of the coming battle of the polls.

A delightful concert contributed to by the London Symphony Orchestra, Miss Edna Thornton, Mr. Harry Dearth, and Mr. H. L. Balfour helped to make the hour spin along; and arrangements on the most generous scale had been made for enabling the company to provide itself with "refreshments." In short, nothing had been left undone by the host and hostess to make the affair a complete success; and by universal consent their ambition was fully realized.

ONLY THE STRONG CAN LIVE IN WALL STREET

Busy Mart of Men Gives Proof of Survival of the Fittest.

If there is any business field on earth where it is a case of the survival of the fittest, Wall street is that field. And by fittest is meant superior physical fitness just as much as, if not more than, mental fitness. Take the business life of a man on the Stock Exchange, for instance, when the market is active. For five uninterrupted hours—from 9 o'clock in the morning until the going sounds at 3 in the afternoon—he is compelled to be constantly alert, to be on his feet, jamming and pushing his way into this crowd of brokers and that, to be showing and shouting, to be writing down his instructions, to be giving and receiving from the telephone clerks of his office, and to fight, generally, the financial gain against all his similarly contending fellows.

He simply cannot be weak physically. The condition of his thinking apparatus may be of secondary consideration, but his body must be strong. If it weakens, he must leave the field. He knows this full well, and, knowing, sees to it that it does not weaken.

"Keep in trim," that is Wall Street's imperative axiom. Not only is it necessary for the "climbers" in Wall Street to watch their physical condition for the money battle, but also is it a matter of moment to the biggest men, the greatest financial figures—Outing Magazine.

DEPORTING THE INSANE.

Washington Sending Several Foreigners Back to Europe.

Olympia, Wash., July 31.—Arrangements have been completed for the shipment at once of a carload of insane foreigners from the Steilacoom insane asylum to New York city, whence they are to be deported. The deportations have been secured by Supt. Calhoun of the hospital, through the assistance of John H. Sergeant, federal immigration inspector.

Mr. Calhoun said to-day that another carload of undisciplinables will be shipped to New York in October. These are foreigners who became insane and were committed within three months after their arrival in the United States. The deportations will effect a considerable saving to the state asylum.

EXTRACT FROM "BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL" March 21, 1907.

"A Most Valuable Food"

At a time when the preparation of artificial foodstuffs is receiving more attention than ever before, and when new forms of easily assimilable fat to take the place of cod liver oil are being frequently brought to the notice of the medical profession, it is desirable that some of the older forms of administering natural fats should not be lost sight of. Among natural fats, butter easily takes first place for nutritive value, and when combined with a suitable soluble carbohydrate, a most valuable food is produced.

The BUTTER-SCOTCH which Messrs. Callard & Bowers (Duke's Road, Euston Road, W. C.) have prepared for fifty years, is such an article, which has the great advantage of being palatable, so palatable, in fact, that children are more likely to need restraining from excess than any persuading to take it. This BUTTER-SCOTCH is stated to contain 11.7 per cent. of fat and 7.1 per cent. of sugar, and the results of an analysis which we have made recently of a specimen substantially confirm these figures; further chemical examination of the fat extracted showed it to be genuine butter fat. This confection can therefore be recommended not only as a harmless sweetmeat, but also as a very useful addition to the diet in suitable cases. In all the principal candy stores in Victoria.

FARMERS CLAMOR FOR MEN

Western Canada and Ontario are anxious for help.
Toronto, July 31.—With Western Canada clamoring loudly for farm hands and the railways planning to carry about 25,000 in response to the call, the farmers of Ontario have a serious prospect of experiencing a serious dearth of laborers before the summer is over. Just at present the shortage is not general, as the first busy season is practically over and the second one has not yet arrived. In several sections of the province, however, the lack of sufficient men is already being felt, and it was gathered yesterday from the remarks of farmers who were interviewed, that farm helpers would have no trouble getting jobs any place.

NO STABLING FOR THE HORSES

BUILDINGS FIRE CHIEF CONDEMNED STILL UP

Contractors on City Works Must Pay for the Water They Use.

At the close of the streets committee meeting last night, Chairman Turner asked the engineer why the instructions of the committee relative to pulling down the old buildings at the pumping station on Yates street had not been obeyed. "The committee had ordered," said the chairman, "that the old buildings be destroyed within seven days." That time had long expired and no action had been taken. "Why are they not pulled down?" concluded the chairman.

The city engineer, in reply, asked what the city was to do if they were pulled down. There was no other stabling for the horses owned by the city. The matter was decided upon some time back, on the advice of the fire chief, who held that buildings of wood containing an open forge were a menace to the surrounding property. No action has been taken, and apparently none will be taken, as the engineer's reply was taken without protest by the committee. The committee decided that in future all contractors on city improvement work will pay twelve and a half cents per 1,000 gallons for water used on works, and that a meter will be put on the job. The decision was arrived at in a letter from Sabine & Stevens, contractors for the brick pavement on Wharf street. The contractors said they were unaware when tendering that they would have to pay for water. They asked free water.

Water Commissioner Ramsay said it was customary to charge up water to the contractor. Meters had been installed. The contractors told him they had figured on it. A. J. Mable said possibly the charging of the water would have to be an extra charge as the amount of the contract had already been settled. He doubted if owners would care to pay anything more than the contract price. On 12th Henderson's advice the charge of 12 1/2 cents per 1,000 gallons was done to apply where all works are done under contract.

San Francisco, July 31.—While the Chinese foster father of MAH HO or Alice Minto, the Syrian child rescued from the opium den four days ago, professes to fight for possession of the child in the courts, the Salvation Army officials, aroused by the disclosures that one of their officers was connected with the case, have begun a thorough investigation to-day. Mah Lin Kee, the foster father, says that when the case came up for trial he will produce the true father of the child—a Chinese, and prove his right to her possession.

OBJECTED TO BILL

BOARD ON THE BANK

Vancouver (Wash.) Citizens Tore Down Disfigurement on Landscape.

Vancouver, Wash., July 31.—The Civic Improvement Society got out in force and when the members of the organization retired, the billboards on the river bank at the ferry landing had been razed to the ground and now had been raised to the face of the river bank. The boards are the property of Foster & Kleiser, of Portland, and the concession was obtained from the Port of Vancouver, Light & Power Company, which owns the property on which the boards stood. The signs were an eyesore to the citizens of Vancouver and to the patrons of the Vancouver ferry. A person could not come into the city on the ferry without being compelled to see them. Growing trees were cut down so the signs might be seen from the river bank until the high water carried it away. Last week someone failed in the attempt to burn the boards down but under the society the job was successful, axes being used to sever the supports.

BIG MINING DEAL.

London Capital Invested in One of the Pachuca Mines.

Los Angeles, July 31.—John Hayes Hammond, who has been in Mexico for several weeks, has concluded negotiations for the purchase of the Santa Gertrudis mine, one of the old Pachuca group, according to an announcement made here to-day. He acted, it is reported, on behalf of Camp Bird, Limited, of London, the purchase price being $2,000,000 (Mexican). Denial has been made here that the Guggenheim interests have purchased the Rey Consolidated of Arizona, an immense low-grade copper mine. It was rumored that the mine would be closed down after being taken over by the Guggenheims.

CROWDS AT THE FAIR.

Passed Million and Half Mark To-day.

Seattle, July 31.—The total attendance at the exposition passed the million and a half mark to-day. During the month of July, the exposition in all departments did almost fifty per cent. more business than during June. The attendance of 550,000 in June was increased to more than 850,000 for July. The total receipts of the Fair Breakdown, since June 1st have been $187,000, of which $200,000 was June business.

AGED MAN STRUCK DOWN.

Sawtelle, Cal., July 31.—Tottering across the tracks of the Los Angeles Pacific electric road near Palms to-day, Begino Valenzuela, 73 years of age, was struck by a speeding Redondo car and almost instantly killed. Valenzuela was a pioneer resident of this section and had lived for half a century in Santa Monica canyon. He was a member of one of the Spanish families holding early Mexican grants in this vicinity.

All the News of Canada, of the Coast, of the World.

Intelligence Dragnet Gathers All the Important Happenings for this Paper.
The Different Sources From Which The Times Obtains Its Splendid News Service Are as Follows :

EUROPEAN SERVICE

THE EUROPEAN MANAGER of the United Press is Mr. Chas. Stewart, one of the best known of news gatherers in the world. While he is located at London, he keeps an alert eye on all European points, and he has that swift intuition, that "nose for news," which means "scoops."

Early in the spring the president of the United Press received the following dispatch from Stewart: "Gone to Constantinople." No Explanation was given, but subsequent events showed that Stewart had anticipated the cataclysm there, had hurried to the scene, organized his news syndicate, with reporters all through the affected districts, and had installed an experienced Turkish newspaper man as staff correspondent. Stewart was back in London before the crash came, but so perfect was his organization and so accurately had he anticipated the movement of events there that the United Press hopelessly distanced all competitors, and gave its papers the news of the deposition of the Sultan, Abdul Hamid, and the name of his successor while papers served by more ancient systems were telling of the retention of Abdul as a constitutional sovereign.

This is but a sample of the prompt and efficient way in which the news of the Old World is handled

CANADIAN EVENTS

Dominion News, Covered by Special Correspondents of "The Times"

CANADA IS RAPIDLY coming into its own, not only as to natural wealth and growth but as a source of important happenings. To specially provide for this the Times has its own representatives in Ottawa and Winnipeg, who compile for this paper the news of the east and the Canadian middle west, respectively. Many events in these districts which in a general way are of minor importance are of special interest to residents of Victoria because of the number of easterners and plains people who have settled on Vancouver Island. This service is being steadily expanded and assures Times readers of the news, not only of the world at large, but the particular news of their own land.

In this way it rounds out the splendid service which the Times is giving its readers.

COAST AND AMERICAN NEWS

THE LEASED WIRE which runs into the Times office has its northern extremity in Vancouver, and its southern terminus in San Diego. It runs northward from the latter point through the cities of San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Bellingham. By this means, and owing to the fact that every paper taking the United Press service is a co-operative member of the organization and furnishes to the association the news of its own district, an almost instant report on all important news on the coast is obtained without having to filter out by the circuitous and slow methods which prevail unless up-to-date is used.

Eastward from San Francisco and Portland the other leased wires of the United Press connect the coast line with all the important eastern and middle west centres and by cable with the European office in London. A perfect news dragnet is spread in which not only ALL the news is obtained, but its delivery while it is still NEWS is assured.

A GREAT COAST TELEGRAPH SERVICE

FROM CALIFORNIA TO ALASKA

People like to hear, first, about themselves, and then about their sisters, their cousins and their aunts. This is the basic principle of news. A big gooseberry in your neighbor's garden is of more importance as a news item than a new volcano in Japan.

—Sir Edwin Arnold.

FROM CALIFORNIA TO ALASKA

If Sir Edwin Arnold was right, the news of the Coast, from California to Alaska, is of more vital interest to the people of Vancouver Island than important happenings in Georgia or in New Jersey.

The Times' leased wire, next to its efficiency and promptness in handling world events, is principally noteworthy for its ample Coast service. In this it has no peer. Thousands of words daily are delivered to this paper relating to Coast happenings.

Coast residents, therefore, can get the news of the Coast satisfactorily only by reading The Times.

This full and up-to-date compendium of news appears every night in The Times. It costs the reader no more than a paper with a weak service.

ORVILLE WRIGHT MET SPEED TEST

HE FLEW AT RATE OVER
FORTY MILES AN HOUR

Brothers Receive United States
Grant of $40,000 for Success.

Washington, July 31.—Orville Wright last evening attained the zenith of his hard-earned success. In a ten-mile cross-country flight in his aeroplane built by himself and his elder brother, Wilbur, accompanied by Lieut. Benjamin D. Houder, an officer of the Signal Corps, he surpassed the speed requirements of his contract with the U. S. government. Incidentally, he broke all speed records over a measured course.

Wright's speed was more than 42 miles an hour. He made the ten-mile flight in 14 minutes and 42 seconds, including more than 20 seconds required for the turn beyond the line at Shuler Hill, the southern end of the course. He attained a height of nearly 500 feet, and his average altitude was over practically level country about 250 feet. The engines worked perfectly. The Wrights will receive $40,000, including a bonus of $5,000 for their aeroplane.

Following a terrible wind and rain storm early in the afternoon the start was made. As if drawn by invisible hands the white-winged man-bird rose, higher and higher. Orville brought the machine at great speed twice around the field, then with a short turn he swept about almost over the heads of the spectators and started straight forward over the center of the drill field.

Like a giant bird the machine swept unswervingly straight to the south, passing over the diverse and heavily wooded country in the distance till it became a mere speck above the horizon. Those who had glasses saw the aeroplane turn first to the left, then to the right above Shuler Hill. Suddenly the speck was lost to view, and as the seconds passed a silence grew upon the crowd, a silence that spoke of deep concern.

Wilbur Wright, standing with leveled glasses besides his sister, strained his gaze in an effort to catch sight of the aeroplane when it should rise again above the skyline. Seconds seemed minutes, and as the interval became seemingly alarming, his agitation was evident. Suddenly the speck came in sight again, over the distant hill. A cry swept over the watchful crowd.

"There it is," everybody said, and the sight of relief was plainly audible. Onward the machine came, seemingly carried from its course by a westerly breeze. Soon the aerial navigators were home again over the drill grounds, flying very low. Orville steered straight across the field, and at a height of about 20 feet swung around again to the southward, and landed easily far down the field. The task was done, and in triumph.

Wilbur, self-controlled though making no secret of his elation, began calculations to determine the probable speed of the trip. After he had consulted with Lieut. Foulers, he figured it at 42½ miles an hour. "We were making 50 miles coming back," were the first words of Lieut. Foulers as he left his seat. "Asked how it felt to fly, he replied: 'It's good enough for me.' Orville said: 'It's easier to fly across country than around a field.'"

HORSE DISTEMPER

Prince Edward Farmer Solemnly
Declares Nerviline is a Specific.

"After fifty years' experience in raising horses I can safely testify that no remedy gives such good results for an all-round stable liniment as Nerviline." Thus opens the very earnest letter of J. J. Evanson, who lives near Wellington, P. E. "I had a very valuable horse that took distemper a month ago, and was afraid I was going to lose him. His throat swelled and lumps developed. His nostrils ran and he had a terrible cough. I tried different remedies, but was unable to relieve my horse of his illness and suffering till I started to use Nerviline. I mixed a bottle of Nerviline and sweet oil and rubbed the mixture on the throat and chest three times a day and you would scarcely believe the way that horse picked up. Nerviline cured him. I also have used Nerviline for colic in horses and cows, and earnestly recommend it to every man that is raising stock."

For strains, sprains, swelling, colic, distemper, coughs and colds, no liniment will prove so efficacious as the one known as "Nerviline"—it's good for man or beast, for internal or external use. Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse substitutes. Large bottles 50c, five for $1, at all dealers, or the Catterhouse Co., Kingston, Ont.

COMBINED TO PROTECT WOMEN

INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENT

Text of This Five-year-old Document is Made Public.

The last issue of the Canada Gazette contains the text of the agreement arrived at between Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, Holland, Belgium, Italy, Spain, Portugal and Switzerland regarding the control of the white slave traffic. This agreement was signed in Paris on May 18th, 1904. The agreement is for the purpose of providing for women of age, deceived under restraint, and also for women and girls under age, adequate protection against the criminal traffic known as the white slave traffic. Thirteen governments have signed agreements, each naming a representative to act as plenipotentiary to see to its enforcement. There are several clauses to the agreement, the most important of which are: Each of the contracting governments undertakes to appoint or to designate an authority whose duty it will be to gather all information concerning the hiring of women and girls for immoral purposes in foreign places, this authority to have power to communicate with a similar service established in each of the contracting states.

Each of the governments undertake to have a strict watch kept for the purpose of seeking, especially at railway stations, ports of departure and during voyages, conductors of women and girls intended for debauchery. Instructions will be sent to officers and all other competent persons, to obtain within legal limits, all information leading to criminal traffic. Arrivals of persons likely to be authors, accessories or victims of such traffic will be signalled, if necessary, to authorities at the place of landing, or to diplomatic or consular agents concerned, or to all other competent authorities.

Governments undertake to provisionally place victims of traffic in institutions, and as far as possible send back to their own countries those who ask repatriation. Where the person cannot reimburse the cost of her transfer it will be defrayed by the country on whose territory she resigns, as far as the next frontier or port of departure, and the surplus by the country of origin.

Contracting governments undertake to exercise as far as possible watch on agencies employing women and girls in foreign countries.

The authority for the collection of information in Canada is Lt.-Col. Sherwood, C.M.G., Ottawa, the commissioner of the Dominion police.

THE HOME JOURNAL.

August Number of Toronto Publication is Bright One.

The August number of the Home Journal, Toronto, is a bright, interesting number. In its editorial page it voices its views with regard to pool-selling and book-making with no uncertain sound. It also strikes a note of warning with regard to the alarming increase of divorces across the border, which it attributes in a large degree to "the untiring of foolish children in marriage and the coupling up for life of the mentally and physically unfit."

"What ails the King?" is an interesting article, and "Wild Flowers of August" is timely and instructive. Agnes Norton contributes a good article, "East is East and West is West," beginning with the familiar jibe that no untravelled Englishman has any idea of the size and extent of Canada.

Collier Stevenson's design with illustrations for a country home, is sensible and practical. The fiction part is well sustained by two serials, "The Mystery of Barry Ingram," by Annie S. Swah, and "Betty of the Rectory," by L. T. Meade. Writing on "Women in Tennyson's Poetry," Jean Graham says "Tennyson from the 'Claribel' of his first song, to Edith Montfort of 'The Tournay,' is the poet of the fairest and most appealing womanhood. Even in his false Amy and frail Guinevere are saved from coarse scorn. In 'The Princess,' Tennyson dealt most fully with what is called 'The Woman-Question.' The article is most timely from the fact that in August the centenary of Tennyson's birth will be observed.

A juvenile page and a fashion review, some good household hints and culinary conceits, coupled with a chapter of "The Opinions of Mary," by Mrs. Towpley of Vancouver, reproduced by special permission from the William Briggs Publishing Co., go to the completion of a more creditable magazine.

HARROD'S STORES FOR CANADA.

Many distinguished scientists are sailing on the same boat, also Richard Burbridge, managing director of Harrods' stores, London's biggest and most progressive emporium. It is understood that Mr. Burbridge has important industrial interests in view in touring through Canada to the Pacific.

RUTHLESS WORK AT BARCELONA

MOB MURDERED NUNS
AND PRIESTS IN FURY

Destroyed Churches and Public Buildings in Great Number.

London, July 30.—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Barcelona gives a graphic description of affairs up to Wednesday evening. Up to Wednesday the troops had not fired a shot. In the meantime churches, convents and colleges had been burned and the sky was illuminated by the flames. Dozens of priests and nuns were ruthlessly slaughtered, some at the altar while holding the crucifix in their hands, others while bravely defending their institutions against the revolutionists and devouring flames, the populace preventing the Red Cross workers from giving aid. Nuns who appeared at the windows were stoned, and not a soul helped them for took pity on their screams. From the height of Mt. Julch nothing was to be seen but flames. The whole of Barcelona seemed like a bonfire. The number killed, the correspondent numbers more than 2,000. Dead and wounded people continue to be unearthed under the ruins.

"To-day," he continues, "I witnessed some of the grimmest of spectacles. The revolutionists, about 10,000 strong, were marching about the streets with the charred remains of their victims. They had placed arms, legs and heads on long poles and were singing 'The Marseillaise' and shouting 'They gave not only the police, civil guard and soldiers samples of their carnage, but actually passed under the very nose of the captain-general, who was at the head of his troops, and no one dared to move on the revolutionists. The truth is the movement is undoubtedly revolutionary, and has been organized and directed by persons of influence, who have not appeared up to the present, and as to whose identity, discretion counsels silence. It sprang up at a time when Barcelona was denuded of troops and the captain-general was not strong enough to take decisive action."

The correspondent sees the greatest danger, not in the spirit of the army, which remains disciplined and obedient, but in the temper of the people, who are hostile to the war. "It is possible," says the correspondent, "that the danger may not be for to-day, but it will certainly be for tomorrow. For the seed has been sown in the people and will remain."

Royal Family Still at Miramar. San Sebastian, Spain, via Hendaye, July 31.—The royal family are still at Miramar palace. The report that Queen Victoria, the queen mother, Maria Christina, and the royal children had crossed the frontier and gone to Bayonne until the crisis was over is untrue, and probably originated in the arrival of the royal automobile at Biarritz with a member of the court, bringing dispatches to the Spanish ambassador to France, who left this morning to resume his duties in Paris. It is understood that both the Queen and the Queen mother were anxious to follow the King to Madrid, but the King considered it a safer course that they should remain at San Sebastian until the crisis was ended. The young Queen, it is said, has absolute faith in the loyalty of the people to the King. His Majesty keeps up an almost hourly communication with the Queen by telephone and telegraph. The Queen is actively occupied in raising a national subscription for the war victims.

UNIQUE BUSINESS FAILURE OCCURS

Snake Charmer and His Financial Differ and Snakes
Are in Jail.

Seattle, July 31.—Vaughn Ellis is today receiver of perhaps the most unique business failure on record. The property placed in charge of Receiver Ellis by order of Judge Frater, consists of one Gila monster, a diamond-headed rattler, two "tea" snakes and a bull snake.

Following his arrest for purloining the reptiles, George Horner filed suit against N. A. Weeden, his partner in a snake-exhibiting enterprise, to dissolve the partnership. Pending the sought-for dissolution, Horner requested Judge Frater to appoint a receiver. Judge Frater granted the request and Ellis was named custodian of the poisonous "property."

In his complaint Horner states he and Weeden entered into a partnership, by the terms of which he was to furnish the snake-charming skill and the labor, while all Weeden was required to furnish was the money. Both delivered the goods. But ten days ago Weeden, becoming dissatisfied, thrust his partner out into the street.

Horner went away from there, but he returned during the temporary absence of the bellicose Weeden and carried off the snakes and the Gila monster, the sole assets of the firm. His arrest soon followed and for several days the snakes have had the freedom of the jail, to the great distress of the "drunks" having temporary residence there.

NEW SCHOOL ROOM AT GORDON HEAD

St. Luke's Church Decides Upon This Move—Former Resident's Success.

(Special Correspondence.)

Gordon Head, July 30.—At the vestry meeting held in St. Luke's school-room on July 28th, it was decided that the old Sunday school building should be torn down and a new one erected on its site. The old building is a landmark of the district. Nearly forty years ago it was used as a church, afterwards as a public school, with Colin McKendle, who afterwards was superintendent of British Columbia, as teacher. Other changes were contemplated at the meeting, noticeably the painting of the church and the staining of the interior.

The many friends made by Norman Whittaker during his residence with B. B. Moore, formerly of Mount Tolmie and now of Toronto, will be glad to learn of his success at school in Toronto. After having attended school there for nine months he was awarded a scholarship and was promoted with honors.

OLD HOSTELRY GONE.

Celebrated in History by Dickens and Nelson.

London, July 31.—The Saracen's Head hotel, Snow Hill, which celebrated its 40th birthday, not long ago, closed its doors on July 28th forever, the proprietors giving as the reason for the closing the now fashionable and popular one of "increased taxation."

The old hostelry had many claims on public interest and was a favorite resort of tourists. In the days of mail coaches it was of considerable importance, being one of the recognized stopping places. Coaches passed through the archway under the hotel and visitors stopping in the house were in the habit of gathering on the balconies surrounding the courtyard to watch the arrival and departure of passengers.

CONTINUOUS BRAKE.

Australian Has One Claiming Many Improvements.

London, July 31.—W. J. C. Almond and J. A. Ople, of the South Australian railway department, are the joint inventors of a new continuous railway brake, of which much is destined to be heard in the near future, says the London Standard. Our Adelaide correspondent informs us that a working model of a goods train, made to scale and fitted with the new invention, has demonstrated both its applicability and its utility for the purposes required. There is no necessity for the complex mechanism involved in many other continuous brake systems and no train pipes are required.

The risk of leakage of air by faulty coupling of pipes is avoided, and all trucks refitted with the appliance automatically fall into the system as soon as they are joined to the train. It is estimated that there will be an enormous saving of cost, for in the case of goods-trains, for instance, on the narrow gauge lines, which are not fitted with continuous brakes, the engine has to slow down long before it reaches the station, thus wasting valuable time.

TENDERS

TENDERS will be received up to noon on Monday, August 9th, 1909, for certain alterations to St. Saviour's church, Victoria West. Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of the undersigned. Lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

SATURDAY, JULY 31, 1909.

In this, the fourth and concluding article of the series on South Saanich, it is fitting that some facts of a statistical nature should be given concerning the municipality as a whole. If some of these facts should seem to the well informed local reader, trite or too well known to be worthy of repetition, it will be sufficient to remind him that they are presented here for the information of the newcomer, the transient visitor and the distant enquirer; for the council of the municipality, in its progressive endeavor to add to its stature by taking thought, has arranged for the distribution of these articles among a wider circle of readers than that embraced in the regular subscription list of the Times.

Speaking roughly, South Saanich is an irregular oblong twelve miles in length and five in breadth. Its boundary line is delimited, throughout twenty miles of its length, by tide water. Its surface, broken by several elevations worthy the name of "mount," is for the greater part rolling and uneven, lending itself naturally to a scheme of small holdings cultivated by intensive methods. Containing 40,000 acres, it supports at present a population of 4,500. To cope with the education of its 450 children of school age it has eleven schools and thirteen teachers. The assessed value of its real property is $4,568,000; while the rate of taxation for the current year is seven mills. Of various kinds of fruit it produces, at a conservative estimate, a crop worth $45,000 annually. Its dairy products reach a yearly total of $200,000. It has 200 miles of excellent roads on whose maintenance and improvement $17,000 is spent every year.

The facts thus boldly stated are illuminating if considered more in detail. Taking first the physical conformation of the district, one notes as an outstanding feature that no part of it is so far removed from the seashore as to be deprived of that tempering influence which large bodies of water so notably exercise. From every considerable elevation within the bounds of the municipality the gleam of some portion of the Straits of Georgia is visible, while from every valley may be seen, veiling far distant mountains, that shimmering blue haze on the horizon which betokens the presence beneath it of salt water. The tempering climatic influence of the Pacific is further aided by the existence of numerous fresh water lakes, such as Beaver, Elk and Prospect lakes, gathered in the trough of various watersheds. The Easterner, accustomed to the division of the year into sharply contrasted seasons, finds it difficult to realize that here on the shores of the Pacific, in a latitude more northerly than his own, is a land where January is a month of green fields—where, in fact, the period of enforced plant rest is so ill defined as to be altogether undeserving a name so harsh as winter. At other points along the Pacific Coast immunity from extremes of heat and cold is purchased at the price of exposure to an excessive rainfall; but of South Saanich this cannot be said. The prevailing winds of the southern part of Vancouver Island are southerly or southwesterly, and these are robbed of the greater part of their moisture in their passage over the distant Olympic mountains. The tables of precipitation for the city of Victoria scarcely do justice to parts of South Saanich, yet they show that the actual rainfall of that city is considerably less than that of Montreal or Boston, and little more than half that of Washington, D. C. The snowfall is so slight as to be negligible. A climate where the extreme variation of temperature, from the severest cold of winter to the most intense heat of summer, is a matter of little more than sixty degrees; where the hottest day of August is followed invariably by a night as cool as that of May—such a climate is surely perfectly adapted for the comfort of man.

Taking up next the matter of population, it may seem at first glance, that for an area of 40,000 acres a rural population of 4,500 is already entirely adequate. A closer consideration of conditions will negative this view. In the first place, three of the six wards into which the municipality is divided touch bounds with the city of Victoria; their streets are continuous with the streets of the city; their population is urban rather than rural. Already portions of these wards are served by city water, and an agreement by which other portions will be served has just been concluded between the city and her rural neighbor. With the provisions of better street car facilities—an improvement already practically assured as the result of recent negotiations—that part of South Saanich immediately adjacent to Victoria will carry a population greater than that of the whole municipality at present. As to the outlying districts, every natural condition—physical conformation, characteristics of the soil, influence of climate—as well as the insistent demands of a market never adequately supplied with local produce, makes for the continual increase of the number of small holdings of from five to fifteen acres, devoted to fruit growing, dairying, or other kinds of intensive farming. Viewed in this light, South Saanich deserves to be the home of 15,000, rather than of 4,500, people.

To effect the desired increase in population it is important that the true claims of South Saanich be brought to the attention of the proper people. It is not particularly to the man of affairs, the manufacturer or capitalist anxious to engage in new enterprises on a large scale, that appeal is made. Neither, on the other hand, are special inducements held out to the laborer or the man whose only capital is a strong right arm and a spirit willing to endure the hardships of pioneer life in an uphill struggle towards an eventual competence. It is true that the man of wealth may choose here a site for a home amid unrivalled scenic beauties and climatic advantages; true also that the willing laborer will find his services in demand at remunerative wages; but it is essentially to the man of moderate means, the man who can invest a few thousands of ready money, the man who can afford to wait a year or two for returns from his investment, the man who desires escape from irksome conditions—the too severe grind of business or the physical penalties of a sedentary life—it is to such a taken off for years. New orchards in every stage of development were noted. New houses, some of them replacing the disused structures of earlier and less prosperous days, others marking the place recruits to its ranks. Some of the newcomers were attacking the problem of clearing the land; others who had purchased land already cleared, but not planted, were nearer to the time of their reward. What others have done they will do.

Recent visits to other wards have confirmed the favorable impressions of earlier jaunts. In Ward Two, under the guidance of Councillor Ernest B. Sewell, the fruit farms along Quadra street and the neighboring orchard of Mr. McNally on Maple road (named from the enormous tree reproduced in an accompanying cut) were visited. Concerning this neighborhood the impressions of a recent visitor have been recorded in words whose relevancy warrants their repetition here:

"Here are conditions almost ideal for fruit growing. Soil, climate, market—all have already borne successfully the test of experience. Along the extension of Quadra street is a succession of small holdings whose fine houses, trim lawns, well tilled vineyards and flourishing orchards speak eloquently, not only for the present prosperity of their owners, but also for the firm faith of these men in the future of fruit growing in the district.

"A typical residence on one of these farms is illustrated in an accompanying cut. It lies within two miles of the heart of the city. Its water supply is derived from the city main. Modern conveniences such as the telephone and electric light are available to it. It combines in an enviable degree the advantages of both city and country life.

"The farm whose owner is housed here so comfortably is one of six acres. At its southern end is a fringe of tall firs such as, two years ago, covered the whole farm.

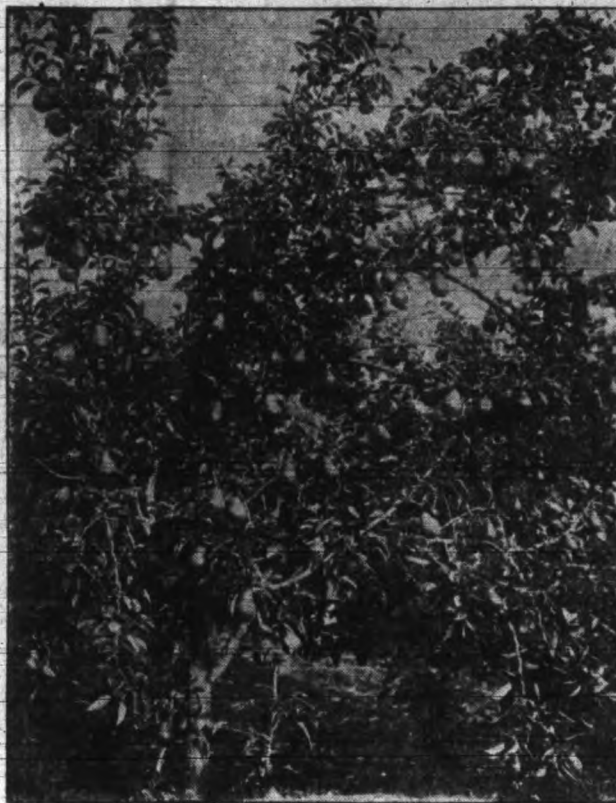

Piles of cordwood at the foot of the slope on which rhubarb, strawberries, currants, blackberries and other small fruits are now flourishing, tell how recent have been the labors of clearing the land. Apple trees, more whips last year, are putting out valiant leaves and branches. In three years more, if the hopes of their experienced and very conservative owner are realized, they will be bearing half a case of marketable autumn apples to the tree. Many of the smaller fruits promise good returns this year. If anywhere there is to be found, for the man of modest means, the promise of an ideal life—useful, independent, not too laborious—it lies in such conditions as those just described.

"One advantage of fruit growing over grain growing or mixed farming is that it insures the proximity of congenial neighbors. From five to ten acres is an average size for a fruit farm. Hence a road through a settled fruit growing district resembles more the principal street of a suburb of a great city than a country thoroughfare."

Contiguous as it is, however, to the city of Victoria, Ward Two demands recognition of its importance in another direction. However important its fruit-growing and dairying interests, it is as a residential suburb, as the site of country homes for city workers, that it is bound to achieve its manifest destiny. The excellent roads which are the pride of the municipality afford at present every advantage to the cyclist or the automobilist, but only with the extension of the suburban street car lines will this neighborhood come to its own.

Gordon Head.

To those at all familiar with Vancouver Island the mention of fruit-growing calls up a mental man that South Saanich makes its strongest appeal. It offers him no life of idleness; for eternal vigilance is the price of all fruit-growing victories. It offers him no possibilities of sudden, unearned wealth. It offers, rather, on a moderate investment of capital, backed by intelligent persistence, but not strenuous effort, a sure return in income while living a life of dignity, of independence, and of ample leisure.

The man who decides to engage in fruit-growing in South Saanich is embarking on no uncertain experiment. Individual growers in every ward have made commercial successes both with large and small fruits. The varieties that thrive best under local conditions, as well as the best methods of cultivation to bring them to perfection, have been ascertained by years of experiment, and the knowledge thus acquired is at the disposal of every newcomer. There is a strong, steady market for all kinds of fruit that will bear shipment; and with the continued filling up of the fruitless prairie provinces the market must improve. There is abundant vacant land in South Saanich—improved land, slashed land, timbered land—all waiting the hand of the coming orchardist to blossom into a great and beautiful garden.

What has been done can be done again. In previous articles fruit farms in Strawberry Vale, in Happy Valley, at Elk Lake, and on Quadra street were given brief mention. The personal visits of which these articles were the outcome revealed conditions full of promise for the future. Mature orchards were seen where successive crops of apples, pears, cherries and prunes had been of a new homestead, bore testimony to an industry established on a sound basis, an industry keeping hold of its early following, yet constantly adding fresh picture of Gordon Head, so well established is the reputation of that altogether charming neighborhood. More extended, more prairie-like than any other single portion of South Saanich, the banner fruit section of Western Canada, it is at once a vindication of the foresight of its early settlers and an invitation to the visitor to remain and share its peaceful prosperity by helping to develop its unoccupied lands. Its homes, well neighbored yet private, as only country homes can be, modern bungalows, many of them of a high degree of architectural taste, present on a reduced scale a picture of the conditions which will prevail in years to come over the whole of South Saanich.

A visit to the home of Mr. Rowland Machin illuminated for the writer many points in connection with practical fruit culture. Mr. Machin was at one time an inspector of the Horticultural Board of California, and president of the Board of Horticulture of Santa Barbara County, California. He is, therefore, in a position not only to speak with authority of local conditions, but to compare with those obtaining in centres of fruit-culture more widely celebrated, if not more deserving. After an experience in his present environment extending over several years, he finds his early belief in the southern end of Vancouver Island as the finest fruit country of North America abundantly confirmed.

The farm consists of fifteen acres, of which about ten is planted to various kinds of fruits. As usual among fruit farms throughout the Saanich Peninsula, strawberries form the main part of the crop. Nothing could better illustrate the stability of climate which is one of the best assets of the whole peninsula than the fact that experienced fruit-growers have been satisfied for years to place their entire dependence on the product of a plant so delicate as the strawberry. Mr. Machin, however, while yielding to none in admiration of the climate in which he has elected to spend the remainder of his life, is no believer in a policy which would place all his eggs in one basket. His object, rather, is to provide for a balanced rotation of crops, giving more continuous employment to his workers, preventing all danger of loss through a large crop maturing more rapidly than it can be handled in a word, increasing profits while lessening risks.

While still enjoying the full benefit of his strawberry crop, Mr. Machin is constantly the gamer through the increment far from unearned, of young apple, prune and cherry trees gradually approaching maturity on the same ground. In all there are about 600 trees in different stages of growth. Many of the apple trees, though a man of average height can chin their topmost branches, are already bearing. In two years more they will all be producing profitable crops. The principal varieties are the Wealthy, King of Tompkins and Yellow Transparent with a large representation of Hyslop erabs. As the trees mature and demand a greater proportion of the available plant food of the soil, the strawberries, of course, will have to be removed.

Of ordinary small fruits as a secondary crop, Mr. Machin is even a stronger advocate, and the fact that he has this year set out 1,000 after strawberries, when otherwise there would be a dearth of fresh fruits, raspberries and loganberries fit neatly into the scheme of the provident fruit-grower.

Writing in December, 1906, Mr. Machin had this to say of the laying out of an orchard: "On the boundaries I would plant berry-bearing hollies, which is another of the beautiful trees in nature specially provided for in this highly favored climate. The only place in this Dominion and on the Pacific Coast where the holly fruits to such perfection that our friends in mate with passing vessels, and on the other unfolding a succession of pictures of cozy, secluded homes nestling amid gardens and orchards. Between the road and the shore line a great part of the available land has been purchased by discerning buyers as sites for summer-homes. The prices given—seldom less than $1,000 an acre—indicate the estimation in which the beauties of the place are held by those in a position to gratify their love for the most beautiful natural surroundings.

Forming the most direct route between Gordon Head and Cadboro Bay is the lately opened Ar-erected and equipped with the necessary steam-heating apparatus for the dull days of autumn and winter. All these will be added to as the business progresses. The situation is high and the soil to outward appearance light, yet it is only necessary to remove a little of the surface with the sole of the foot to disclose an ample degree of moisture. Contrary to the almost invariable experience of the fruit-grower, it has not been found necessary to underdrain this land, owing to its natural slope; but here, as elsewhere, continual stirring of the surface is essential to the retention of moisture in the ready a beginning has been made in this direction, and chrysanthemums to an immense number are growing against the time of the Christmas demand. As an example of an industry set on a sound basis in a short time, and giving promise of progressive and indefinite expansion in the future, the enterprise of Peters and McGuire is noteworthy. It is just such enterprises, backed by knowledge and industry, that will do most for the upbuilding of South Saanich and at the same time richly reward those engaging in them.

Of ordinary small fruits as a secondary crop, Mr. Machin is even a stronger advocate, and the fact that he has this year set out 1,000

Eastern Canada—who frequently receive holly from the old country—accord us unreservedly the credit for producing the finest holly in the world." In this connection it is interesting to note that this year Mr. Machin has followed his own advice by importing from France a number of diminutive holly trees. In due time he expects to have a hedge which, at the current rates of fifty cents a pound for holly leaves, should not only yield a satisfactory revenue, but form as well a striking and noble ornament.

The drive around Gordon Head is worth going far to enjoy for its own sake. A smooth, well-kept road curves around the headland, giving glimpses on the one hand of the blue waters of the Straits and bus Road, aptly named from the graceful tree so frequently seen in the woods which it traverses. There is a considerable area of vacant land on either side of this road—land which must soon be reclaimed to commercial uses. As an example of what can be done with the soil in this neighborhood the greenhouses and truck gardens of Messrs. Peters and McGuire are conspicuous. Three years ago the place was under its original growth of timber, and for the part new stumping was the necessary prelude to the gentler art of gardening. A small house was built and in time three hothouses were sub-soil. Under glass only tomatoes and cucumbers are grown at present, one of the greenhouses producing no less than two tons of the former. A well on the premises affords an inexhaustible supply of water, which will be forced to a series of elevated tanks by a gasoline engine soon to be installed, and from these drawn off to all parts of the garden as required. Unlike Andrew Fairservice, the old Scotch gardener of Stevenson's essay, who despised all plants not strictly utilitarian, and infinitely preferred a cauliflower to an iris, the partners intend engaging in the cultivation of flowers. Birth of New Stars.

In the earlier days of astronomy it was quite easy for a new star to be born, and no one to know about it. Very large and brilliant stars are, after all, few in number. Even counting in all down to the sixth magnitude, the total would only work out to about .005 per cent. of the visible universe that spreads itself before a photographic plate. The chance of a very conspicuous new star was therefore rather remote. New things are somewhat different. Already the heavens have been pretty fully mapped, and the great observatories keep their photographic plates going night after night. A mere glance shows if a new point of light has appeared on one of these, and if it has all the resources of science are brought to bear on the catastrophe that has happened millions of miles away, and perhaps many years before. While the light remains strong enough the spectroscopic enables us to tell actually what is taking place—if we know how to interpret its results.

The first new star ever examined in this way was Nova Coronæ, which appeared in 1850, but spectroscopy was then in its infancy. This star had been known previously as one of about the ninth magnitude—a faint star—but it suddenly blazed up to be one of the brightest in the heavens. This is perhaps the only case in which a new star has been known beforehand. It has now fallen back to its original condition, and there is a faint nebula, according to Barnard, in the field around it. Nova Cygni appeared in 1876 as a star a little below the seventh magnitude, and between January, 1877, and March, 1882, it died away to about the fourteenth magnitude, at which it has since remained. The first new star on which really modern work was done was Nova Aurigæ, which was first seen in 1892, though it had been writing its message on the photographic plates a month or two before. Eighty or ninety observers worked on it, and it was soon seen to consist of two bodies rushing apart with great velocity, with a third slowly moving body between Nova Aquilæ No. 2 in 1905. That very wonderful new star, Nova Persei No. 1, appeared in 1867. It had changed to the nebular condition in the autumn of 1902, and by 1905 its spectrum was similar to that of the Wolf-Rayet stars, which are yellowish, and often appear to be surrounded by a glow or halo. Nova Gemminorum appeared in 1903. In March it was a star of the fifth magnitude, but at the end of the month it began to change rapidly into a nebulous nebula. Nova Velorum appeared in December, 1905. The strong helium line is absent from its spectrum, and it is now a star of about the tenth magnitude.

The above list has been written down almost at random. It has no pretension to be complete, but it will serve its purpose if it drives home the fact that instead of being a unique occurrence, the birth of a star is really quite a normal event in stellar evolution. The only theory that can give any explanation of these things involves the idea of stellar collision, which was first given to the world by Professor Bickerton in 1875. Slowly during these thirty years, but more rapidly in the last decade, stellar collision has been becoming a commonplace of scientific thought, but Professor Bickerton's remains the only attempt to work out its consequences in detail and to interpret in its light not merely the origin of new stars, but the whole structure of the visible universe. A complete photographic chart of the heavens will probably show about 100,000,000 stars, and Kapteyn has estimated that out of any 15,000,000, 12,000,000 would be smaller than our sun. About 50,000,000 of them are crowded together in the Milky Way, at an average distance of 3,000 light years away from us. Nearly all new stars are born in this region of the sky, and we see at once why this is so: If the 100,000,000 bright stars just mentioned were the only occupants of space there would still be some chance of collision, since they are all moving indiscriminately, though on an average only at the rate of a few miles a second. Still, stars occupy only the merest fragment of space, and 100,000,000 is not really a large number. A ten-acre field of ripe oats will yield more grains than there are stars, and there are something like two hundred million molecules in an inch of soap bubble. None of those molecules, or the atoms that compose them, or the thousands of electrons that make the atom, are close enough to touch one another if they were standing still. Yet so, doubt electrons, atoms and molecules all come into collision, and so do stars. Ours is a dynamic universe. However, there are many more chances of collision than that between two of the hundred million stars we know, and this is what makes a stellar evolution a frightful puzzle, unless you possess the master key of impact. First of all we have to remember that the time during which a star shines is only a small fragment of its life. For countless ages it is wandering through space, dead and cold and black. Most often new stars are born from the impact of such derelicts. But again, the romance of matter is much more varied than anything we supposed a quarter of a century ago. Then our general impression was that, except for stars and nebulae, space was practically empty—either and nothing besides. But we know now that this is far from being the case. Space is strewn with atomic dust, for everything of electrons, and theory tells us that there are places where this dust will tend to aggregate. As soon as it does that it becomes a trap for more dust, for the meteoric swarms that are rushing all about through space, and finally for dead suns. Such cosmic dust clouds may be many millions of miles thick, and dead sun rushing through them will generate an enormous amount of friction, even if their average density is many times less than that of air. We may thus get a new star without any collision of two bodies, and with quite abnormal light effects. Something of the same kind happens when dead suns rush into nebulae that may be invisible to us, or a new star may appear in the midst of a nebula already known.

No one must expect a deceptive simplicity in the observations of new stars. The text-book illustrations will not be recognizable, perhaps, in one case out of a hundred. It is indeed remarkable that recent spectroscopic study of new stars has not been even more puzzling than it proves to be. It is the same with the general problem of stellar evolution, which hardly anyone has yet touched. There is no one simple life history for all stars, or even for all genera of cosmic bodies. Sometimes something like the Laplace nebular hypothesis is still true for a particular case of stellar evolution, sometimes something like the Lockyer meteoric hypothesis is true, sometimes, as for instance, in the case of double stars, something like the Darwin-See theory of tidal action, causing a great gaseous star to split in two and gradually driving the parts away from each other, is true. None of these things are mutually exclusive. But the most general key to what is happening will be found in the hypothesis of stellar collision. This accounts for a wider range of phenomena than anything else, ally and completely for new stars, and the Nova Aurigæ type, very largely for double stars and complex stars with three or four components, very largely for variable stars, and wonderfully for the undeniable connection between many stars and nebulae. It accounts for the dust of space, for that double stream of stars detected by Kapteyn, and even for an eternal rhythm of cosmic change. The greatest generalizations of science can hardly claim to do more. W. G. P. in Sydney Morning Herald.

SHAKESPEARE THEATRE SITE.

A deputation from the Shakespeare Memorial committee waited upon the general purposes committee of the London county council recently to submit a suggestion that the London county council should grant a site for the Shakespeare memorial theatre. It is estimated that the building and endowment of the theatre will cost $2,000,000. Already $500,000 has been provided.

The committee promised to consider the suggestion, and members of the deputation declared that there was every reason to hope that the council would agree to give a site, which it was suggested might be found in Kingsway.

Hon. Frank Oliver's Speech at Dominion Day Banquet in London.

Hon. Frank Oliver was one of the speakers at the Dominion Day banquet at London, and proposing the toast of "Our Guests," said:

The honor has been assigned to me of proposing the toast of "Our Guests." In doing so I am reminded that a number of those present, who are included in the toast are and have been much more to Canada than guests—have had no small part in helping forward the progress and welfare of the Dominion. Amongst them His Grace the Duke of Argyll and Lord Aberdeen, former Governors-General of Canada, and Lord Grey, the Governor-General of today. All men whose discharge of their high and responsible duties has been with only one thought—the good of Canada and of the Empire.

As the Empire is great in area and far spread, it presents as widely varied problems in its several parts. In no part are these problems more complex and more difficult than in Canada, and in no part is the result to the Empire from their successful working out more important.

We are near enough to the heart of the Empire to feel its every throb. For three thousand miles we absolutely touch another country which has nearly double the population of the British Isles, speaking our common language. Not only do our frontiers touch, but the great centres of the life of each country are immediately on either side of the boundary line.

In close touch with the centres of business in two continents, in the very highway of commerce, and subject from moment to moment to all changes in the world's commercial or other conditions, a handful of people, with the development of half a continent in hand, the problems we have to deal with will not wait. They must be dealt with as they arise, and can only be dealt with as they arise. Under such circumstances the difficulties of Canada have not been less than those of other parts of the Empire. The work of Empire building there has not been less strenuous. May we say that the occasion marks a higher measure of success in the work of building up Canada than any other July since 1867?

And may we say, further, that it is our confident expectation that the success of to-day is but a small part of that measure of success which the future holds for Canada and the Empire? Canada was founded as a part of the Empire. Canada has grown and is being developed as a part of the Empire. Canada's ambition is to be an autonomous part of a constantly growing, a constantly greater and inter-dependent Empire, in which Canada shall bear a part proportionate to her status, resources, and possibilities.

May I claim that the work of Empire building has been and is being well done on that side of the Atlantic, and on this may I say that the relations between Canada and the Mother Country were never more cordial than now, that there never was a better or clearer understanding than at present between the Dominion and Imperial governments through the medium of the Colonial Office, presided over by the noble lord whose name I have the honor to couple with the toast.

But I have the privilege of associating another name. Our Empire is the greatest the world has ever seen, and our work is to make it still greater. We may to-night do honor to the latest great name on the roll of Britons who have successfully dared the unknown to add to the sum of human knowledge, and therefore to the world's advantage and happiness, and at the same time to spread still wider the bounds of the British Empire.

Speaking for a country peopled by pioneers, or the children of pioneers, whose ultimate boundary on one side is the North Pole, it is with special appreciation that I mention the name of the man who has so recently planted the flag of the Empire nearest the South Pole.

The toast was responded to by Right Hon. Winston Churchill, Lord Crewe and Lieut. Shackleton, of Antarctic exploration fame.

DO YOU WEIGH TOO MUCH?

The Real Remedy and the Recipe.

There are some stout people whom the above question does not seem to trouble very much. They are, however, wrong to be so careless for obesity is a complaint which brings many evils in its train. There are others who have sought long and earnestly for a really reliable remedy for obesity, and to these the following prescription will be of absorbing interest, because it presents in a simple and harmless form and sure relief—a remedy which is rapidly gaining a world-wide reputation. The reader may make up the prescription for himself (or herself) on getting the ingredients from the drug-gist—or the latter will do so willingly.

This is the full recipe: ½ oz. Marmoline, ½ oz. Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and ¼ oz. Peppermint Water. Take a dose of one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

This admirable and quite harmless remedy will soon take off pounds of the offending fatty excess; and as, day by day, the weight decreases, strength and vigor will return in equal ratio; for, be it observed, there is no fasting or exercise required. Rest, good food, regular doses—these are all that is necessary to reduce weight to normal, increase the supply of pure blood, clear the skin, beautify the complexion and restore energy and excellent spirits.

SEVEN YEARS AN INVALID

Then She Took "Fruit-a-tives" and Is Now Well.

Arnprior, Ont., Nov. 27, 1908.
I was an invalid for seven years from fearful Womb Trouble. I had falling womb, with constant pain in the back and front of my body and all down my legs. There was a heavy discharge and this made me weak. I was obliged to be in bed for a month at a time. I was treated by several doctors, but their treatment did me no permanent good.

A few months ago, I was persuaded to try "Fruit-a-tives." I took several boxes, and from the outset of this treatment I was better. The constipation was cured, and the discharge lessened. I took for the balance several bottles of the Iron Mixture as recommended in the "Fruit-a-tives" book, but I feel that it was "Fruit-a-tives" alone that cured me.

NEED OF RELAXATION IN LIFE OF MANKIND

Toronto Clergyman Has a Good Word Even for Old Clay Pipe.

Rev. R. Herblison, of St. Giles Presbyterian church, Toronto, in a recent sermon, made a strong plea for the sport-loving element in life.

"Pleasures and sports," said he, "are the safety valves of the human life. If we did not have a little relaxation, the tension would break and we would go to terrible extremes of pleasure."

"We all have one ideal in life, and that is the 'perfect man ideal' which is something that we do not altogether understand, and is rather vague in the distance. As we seem to be getting nearer to it, it will flit away, for, as we grow older, we realize how much grander and nobler this ideal is. But then there is the ordinary working ideal of life, which is what the average man strives for: to be honest and do our duty, and his is better and more satisfying than striving for something in the dim distance. To carry this out, we must have some relaxation in life, if not, we will lose most of the beauty of living. Life should not be one long strain and a bitter end, but a life of intense and in one direction without ever changing for something lighter."

"Parents make this terrible mistake sometimes, that of allowing their children no relaxation from their ordinary life, and then when the strain is removed the children will go to the other extreme. There is a medium for all things. We must recognize that our lives are human; that we are not angels, and in the ordinary course of a life there must be some breaks. That is why every man should have a holiday."

"Naturally, we should set a standard to our pleasures. There are some things that we should run from, such as impure fun. Other things, again, we should battle with, evil within and evil without. This we should fight with all the vigor of manhood and womanhood."

"In almost everyone there is a spirit of fight and ambition, whether we will or not. We love to have something to fight. There is the tendency to love that in which there is danger. This sometimes is a good thing, and is the making of the great statesman. In others it is the making of an evil and vile man, who counts ambition before everything else."

"Take our athletic sports. Some may say it is a waste of energy, and that if the work that is done on the football and baseball field could be turned into a useful channel, it would be of great value. But the value of the sport is still greater. It sends us back to our work enlivened, with more purpose, and determination to get on and work. Other men do not go in for athletics. There is the man who goes fishing. He may not bring home many fish, or any at times, but the day's sport has made a new man of him."

"There is still another form of relaxation that comes in for much criticism. The tired man comes home from work, weary out, and takes his old clay pipe. It is no use in saying that smoking has no place. You may not like it, then, don't smoke, but I tell you that when it makes man feel like another being, the old pipe has its place."

"Then, again, there is dancing, and that has its critics. In some ways, that may be wrong, but when I think of the young people cooped up all day in some store or office I wish that a cure of them could get pleasure in this way. It is relaxation, and that we must all have. Try to keep young. So many people get old at 30. Look in the old faces of the young people, and you will realize that they must have some pleasure. Keep it pure, but have it."

"Hobbies, too, are a good thing. What a pleasure it is to look over old collections made when we were younger. 'God meant us to have pleasure, or He would not have filled the world with so many beautiful things for us to enjoy, nor would He have put into our hearts the desire for pleasure.'"

MAN WHO MADE NAVY MODERN

CHARACTER SKETCH OF SIR JOHN FISHER

His Heart Is Wrapped Up in His Country and Pro- fession.

When he was in command of the Mediterranean fleet, Sir John Fisher one day went aboard a certain vessel and walked up and down the deck with the captain. "What is that?" he said suddenly, pointing to a bell pull which communicated with the engine room.

"That," said the captain, with prompt invention, "is the bilge pump." "Pull it," said Sir John. The captain pulled it and the bell rang. "What is the bell for?" "To indicate the state of the bilge," replied the captain, still relying on a fertile invention. Next day the captain was removed from his command, and doubtless joined the innumerable host of those who demand Sir John Fisher's head on a charge or the equivalent of that offering as the one thing necessary to maintain our naval supremacy, writes "A. G. G." in the Daily Mail.

The incident is characteristic of the man. He is sudden and sardonic. He snaps off your head with a joke in the midst of a genial torrent of talk. He suspected that this man was inefficient. He did not set on foot elaborate inquiries; he just paid him a call, engaged him in pleasant talk, and from the quiet sky sent out a sudden flash of lightning that ended his career on the spot. That is his way. If he suspects you he does not write to you. He takes you by the arm and pours out that stream of astonishing talk and then, just when you, good easy man, think how well you stand with the admiral, there leaps out a sudden sword and you are pinned past escape. For he believes that the truth comes out in talking. Set a man before a sheet of paper, he says in his epigrammatic way, and he has time to tell lies.

It follows that he is not loved. The world respects the martinet, but it reserves its affection for those who give it affection. It prefers those who do not expect much from it. It admits the need of efficiency, but it hates the efficient. He is a constant rebuke to his own love of slack and slipshod ways, a constant menace to his comfortable rut of routine and custom. It clings to its traditions, and dislikes all change, because it is change. Theoretically it will admit that stagnation is decay and that the decline of every institution in history, from an empire to a blacking business, was due to undue attachment to "creeds outworn." But its own case is always different. Its own case is always one in which "whatever is, is best," and in which the hand of the reformer is the hand of the vandal.

Now the navy was an institution that had run in a rut for a century. Steam had superseded the sailing ship, the ironclad had superseded the wooden walls of the old three-decker, the whole science governing naval warfare had changed. Nelson had lashed the Victory to the Redoubtable; if he met it to-day in battle he would shatter it to pieces at five miles range—or he shattered. Naval history, as Sir John Fisher will tell you, is a record of exploded maxims. It was the most doubtful phase of war; it was the most absolute, the most absolute, so mathematically precise, that Admiral Fisher and Admiral Tirpitz might meet over a map and settle it without firing a shot, as you settle a game of chess by adjudicating upon the power, the number, and the situation of the pieces. But with all this material change there had been no change of tradition. The spirit of the service remained unaltered. There was no scientific adjustment of needs to ends, no application of plain business principles to the task. The single idea was to have ships and more ships. Beyond that elementary policy the thought of the navy did not go. Then there emerged slowly to the front a man of ideas. He had no social backing and no exceptional attractions of personality. But he had the energy of a steam engine, the pertinacity of a debt collector, and no reverence for the past or for anything but facts. Five years ago he became the professional head of the navy, and in those five years the navy has been revolutionized. There is hardly a stone that has been left unturned. There is hardly an idea that has not been reversed. Ships, guns and gunnery, strategy and tactics, instruction and training, diet and rewards—all has suffered a literal "sea change."

No wonder that he is not loved. No wonder that the navy writes like the frog under the harrow when "like tooth gives it a fig." No wonder that the naval clubs ring with the outraged sentiments of half-pay officers, and that ancient admirals grow purple at the unspeakable name, and fire broadsides at the iconoclast through the port-holes of the Times.

Fortunate for him that he has a tough integument. No shaft can pierce this armor-plated man. He probably had feelings once; but he has been so long exposed to the weather that they have become indurated. The singular face, at once inscrutable and morose, gives no key to any human emotion. The full eye, with its curiously small pupil, the wide, full-lipped mouth, drooping mercilessly at the corners, the jaw jutting out a good humored challenge to the world, all proclaim a man who neither asks nor gives quarter. He laughs, he cracks jokes, he is as voluble as a water-gate, but behind all these breezy externals of the seaman are his "three H's of war"—"Ruthless, Relentless, Remorseless"—and his "three H's of gunnery"—"Hit first, hit hard, keep on hitting."

For he talks in crisp phrases. "Life is phrases" is a favorite saying of his. He coins his phrases out of the ore of his own quarrying. They are his condensed comments on the experience of a lifetime. He uses them as Mr. Chamberlain used them, to drill an idea into the mind of the public. The public is a dull dog. Dr. Dale used to say that it took ten years to get a new idea really rooted in the mind of his congregation. And Sir John Fisher would produce the same of the navy. He uses the art of "damnable iteration" deliberately. He coins a phrase and keeps on saying it, much after the fashion of a Protectionist journal who keeps on saying: "Tariff reform means work for all" until he believes it as far as he is capable of believing anything. I have said that he is as pertinacious as a debt collector. You cannot shake him and his phrases off. They both stick. When, before he was first sea lord, he believed it as work for all, he believed it as far as he is capable of believing anything. I have said that he is as pertinacious as a debt collector. You cannot shake him and his phrases off. They both stick. When, before he was first sea lord, he believed it as work for all, he believed it as far as he is capable of believing anything.

And he never is beaten. I am told that when he conceived the idea of having wireless telegraphy installed on the "opola" of the admiralty in Whitehall, he found that the post office was an insuperable barrier to the scheme. So one day half a dozen seamen swarmed up the cupola and ran up the "wireless" in the face of outraged authority. "How's this?" asked the post office. "The official breast swelled with official indignation. 'Oh,' said the admiral, 'it's only run up tentatively to see how it will work in case permission is given.' I fancy permission has never been given; but if you go down Whitehall you will see the 'wireless' still half up the chimney. He is, you see, true to the Nelsonian tradition of the 'blind eye.' And that is natural. He has, as I have said, reverence for nothing but facts; but Nelson's genius is a subject on which he will grow eloquent at the least excuse; and his talk is garnished with illuminating references—to the great man. 'You may be sure that when he saw the French and Spanish admirals exchanging signals that they didn't understand.' This, with reference to the doubtful value of allies in naval warfare, for his references and anecdotes are never idle—they always have their bearings on actualities, which are the only things that interest him."

What sentiment or emotion dwells behind this astonishing energy of mind, this gay and fluent talk, I do not know, and can only guess. Certainly not the emotion of humanitarianism. "War should be terrible," he says, and I fancy that few things would win his professional approval more than the act of Togo on the eve of the declaration of war between China and Japan, in sinking at sight a ship flying British colors, but which he knew carried 2,000 Chinese. Perhaps it is the emotion of patriotism. "I am convinced that we are the lost tribes," he says laughingly. "For see how Providence has taken care of us." And he will point to a map and show in a few broad phrases the crushing geographical supremacy of Britain. And then, warming to his theme, "Do you know that there are five keys to the world? The Straits of Dover, the Straits of Gibraltar, the Suez canal, the Straits of Malacca, the Cape of Good Hope; and every one of those keys we hold. Aren't we the lost tribes?"

But really at the bottom I think if there is an emotion at all, it is the single emotion of professional pride. It is that singleness of aim that gives him such driving power. His purposes are rooted in the mind of his congregation. And Sir John Fisher would produce the same of the navy. He uses the art of "damnable iteration" deliberately. never deflected by side issues, never weakened by social, personal, or even humane considerations. He has one goal and goes straight for it all the time. Are you the best? the best that is, for your purpose?—not the best in a general sense, but in a particular sense? That is all he asks, whether of a ship, a gun, or a man. If you are a stoker then you must be the best stoker that ever walked. It is no use pointing out that you are good to your aunt. The question is, Have you a genius for stoking? If you haven't your aunt won't help you. He will look round with that genial ruthlessness—it is both—glance of his, and he will find the man he wants though he be a hundred steps down the ladder. For, with defiant paradox, he will tell you that "Favoritism is the secret of success"—favoritism, that is, for the efficient, not for the personally or socially preferred. "If I haul a man up over the shoulders of his seniors that man is going to take care to show I haven't made a mistake." Efficiency, and again efficiency and always efficiency—that is his test. It was the test of Napoleon. "Qu'est-ce qu'il a fait; it must be the test of all material success. It is hard on the good, weak man; it is hard on the stoker's impoverished aunt. But success is ruthless. It has no bowels of compassion. It takes its instructions from the head and ignores the gentler pleadings of the heart. And so I come back to the one emotion—if indeed it is so warm a thing as emotion—of this remarkable man, his professional pride. He loves his calling and has no other love. It is not a means but an end. It is all sufficient. It is his whole life. Outside that life there is no personality that can be called Sir John Fisher.

PHOTOGRAPHING IN THE WILDS.
It is vastly more difficult to photograph game than to shoot it. Nothing worth shooting should escape a rifle at a hundred yards, while it is seldom worth while to use a camera on game at more than a fourth of that distance. Even then, however near the game may be, it is much easier to miss it with a camera than it is commonly believed. If the camera is tipped a very little to one side when the exposure is made, the necessity of trimming the picture to conform to the horizon line, may spoil it.

Pressing the button a small fraction of a second too early, or too late, may ruin the result. I once posed for the Camera Man when he attempted to illustrate the shooting of an alligator. The reptile was in a little pond on the border of the Big Cypress swamp of Florida. As I stood on the bank a Cracker boy who was with me grunted like a young alligator. This brought to the surface of the water the head of a big gator who was in search of his supper. I fired at the reptile with a gun charged with magnesium powder and at the same instant the Camera Man pressed the button of his camera which was trained on the whole outfit. Out of several trials only one was successful. An exposure made the fiftieth of a second too soon missed the discharge of the weapon, which was the important feature of the show, and when the button was pressed the tenth of a second too late, the stream of fire and smoke, which should have been pouring from the muzzle of the gun, was entirely disconnected from it, producing a ridiculous effect.—A. W. Dimock, Van Norden Magazine.

CHEAP ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Great Advance of the Metal Filament Lamp.

Wonderful progress has been made recently in the manufacture of metal filament electric lamps. Formerly lamps suitable for the ordinary supply of electricity, which is of a pressure usually of 110, 220 or 240 volts, could only be of high candle power, as low candle power lamps for these voltages could not be made successfully. Then came the use of transformers, by means of which the voltage could be reduced. Using a voltage of 25 or thereabouts, metal filament lamps of 5, 8 and 16 candle power could be used, but with 110 or 220 volts it was necessary to employ lamps of about 50 or 100 candle power.

Recent progress, however, has enabled electrical manufacturers successfully to construct metal filament lamps of 110 volts 16 candle power and 220 volts 32 candle power, so that the transformer is not required except where still smaller lights are wanted.

The saving in current consumption is unaffected by the smaller lighting power of the newest lamps, a clear economy of 70 per cent. being obtainable with the most efficient makes.

METHODIST.

Dr. Bland's Lecture.—The attendance at Dr. Bland's lecture on "Human Nature," on Wednesday evening, the 21st, was very large. Considering the summer season this is very satisfactory. The lecturer delighted his audience and added considerably to the funds of the Ladies' Guild. Mr. H. H. Shandley's song, "The Teller," was much enjoyed, as also was Mr. Parsons' organ recital prior to the opening of the lecture.

Bible Class Picnic.—The members and friends of the Young People's Bible class turned out in large numbers on Wednesday night last for their picnic to the Gorge. The party went by boats from the causeway, and report having had a royal time.

Prayer Meeting.—A noticeable feature of the prayer meeting on Thursday evening this week was the large number of strangers and visitors that attended. After the meeting they were shown the auditorium and expressed much delight at the beautiful edifice.

Sunday Services.—The services on Sunday will be of specially interesting nature. Sacramental services will be held at the close of both morning and evening services. The quarterly reception of new members will take place at the morning service.

Sunday School Music.—Arrangements are being made to have one of the most competent and up-to-date choirs and orchestras in connection with the Sunday schools. Organization will be effected early in August.

Class Contest.—The Young People's Bible class are commencing a friendly contest, boys against girls, in getting new members.

PRESBYTERIAN.

First Church.—Last Sunday the pulpit of First Presbyterian church was occupied by the Rev. Prof. Gordon, D. Litt., of the Manitoba Presbyterian college. He preached two very clear, scholarly and helpful sermons. He is a man of medium height, about thirty-four years of age, clean shaven, somewhat nervous in temperament, and in the pulpit gracious in manner, elegant in language, and unconscious of self-existence when preaching the Gospel to the congregation. As an expounder of the scriptures he is classed among the "higher critics," a term applied to a certain school of Bible expositors, which term is somewhat nebulous, as it is a part of a definition which does not define, indicating a class which does not classify.

To-morrow's Pastor. — To-morrow

Y. M. C. A. DELEGATES AT WORLD GATHERING

Representatives From Many Lands Assembled in Germany.

Over twelve thousand delegates, representing thirty countries in all assembled at the opening of the triennial World's Conference of the Young Men's Christian Association, at Bremen, Germany. There are forty delegates from North America, Dr. Lucien C. Warner, chairman of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., C. S. Ward, campaign secretary, James L. Huntington, Chicago, and four from the St. Andrews' Brotherhood; John R. Mott and Robert Watchorn, formerly commissioner of immigration at New York, being among the most prominent.

Many of the delegates arrived late from England, having been in attendance at the Oxford Students' Christian Federation, which has been in session at Oxford university. Although the two organizations are distinct, they are co-relative to a large degree and some of the most important subjects discussed at Oxford will be considered at the conference here.

Mr. Ward, who has raised over a million dollars for the United States and Canada, was given an enthusiastic greeting, at the suggestion of Mr. L. C. Warner, chairman of the international committee.

The report of the secretary, Richard C. Morse, shows that there are 7,946 associations in the work, of which 1,439 are in North America. The total membership of the American associations is 446,082, and they own $30 buildings, valued at nearly $46,000,000. There are 519,772 volumes in the 784 libraries owned by the various associations, and the enrolled students in evening educational classes number over 44,000, while 187,110 are registered in the physical departments. Nearly three thousand secretaries and other paid officials are employed in local, state and international associations, whose salaries during the last year aggregated $6,992,384.

At the urgent request of Turkish delegates particular emphasis will be laid upon plans for the development of the Y. M. C. A. work in the Ottoman Empire. They have convinced the international officers and members of the leading committees that something more is needed to place Turkey on a firm foundation politically than the adoption of a constitution and the deposition of Abdul Hamid. Nothing but Christian effort, it was explained by one of the delegates, can change the character of the great solid mass of Mohammedans, many of whom have no respect whatever for the new regime at Constantinople. Race hatred cannot be obliterated by a stroke of the pen, and the Young Turks, who have made an honest and heroic effort to assist the committee of union and progress are understood to be in favor of helping the Young Men's Christian Association in Turkey in every way possible.

If you make a promise, fulfill it; be it a small or a great matter, fulfill it; broken faith cannot be mended like old china. You may patch it up, but there is ever afterwards lurking a certain suspicion or misgiving, which may hurt you, but it is not so with the Y. M. C. A.

Sunday School Lesson

(Copyrighted by Rev. T. S. Lincoln.)

August 8, 1909.

Paul's Instructions to the Thessalonians. I Thess. v:12-24.

Golden Text.—See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good. I Thess. v:15.

Verses 12-15.—What is the dominant note to-day between officials of the church and the pastor, is it official and business, or is it spiritual, that of tender love and warm esteem? Do ministers as a class "labor" as hard, and suffer as their Master did, and thus compel the tender love and esteem of the church?

Does the average minister not actually "labor" as hard as the average mechanic, farmer, business or professional man, and practise as much self denial as these?

What is generally the real character of those who will not support the church because they do not like life minister?

What is the only way by which to have "peace" among brethren in a church or in a community?

Verses 14-15.—If you know anything against a fellow Christian what is the right thing to do, (1) say nothing about it; (2) talk about it to others; (3) correct him in the presence of Jesus; or (4) see him alone and in love tell him what you have to say.

Jesus went about lovingly helping people, in their bodies, their souls, and circumstances; if you and I are not doing that, have we a right to conclude that we are not followers of Jesus?

Is it your duty, as a Christian, to take pains to "comfort" everybody with whom you come in contact, and if you are doing, what is the effect upon your own life?

Verses 15-17.—If my neighbor sets his dog on my sheep, pulls down my fence in the night, shoots my chickens when one gets into his yard, is constantly slandering me and my family, and will not pay me a long standing just debt, what would Jesus do if he were here? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Verses 18-19.—It is easy, Paul, for you to say, "Rejoice evermore," but is it practical for ordinary mortals, and if so, how?

Verses 17-19.—If a man is really in love, with God and his fellows, does he not necessarily pray all the time, either consciously or unconsciously?

Is it necessary, or helpful, to have set times for conscious prayer?

Verses 18-19.—Are we to be thankful alike for pain and pleasure, for loss and gain, for enemies and friends, if we are "in Christ Jesus?"

Is it not an actual fact, based on the truest philosophy, that every sort of experience which comes to a true man, is in the highest possible sense, for his good?

In the light of eternal existence, are there any such things as accident, calamity, misfortune, or even regrettable circumstances, in the life of a man of God?

Verses 19-20.—Can any man retain the peace of God, who is not absolutely obedient to the leadings of God's Holy Spirit?

Verses 20-21.—Prophesying here means preaching, is there any sign in these days that it is being deepened?

Why should a love for the preaching of the gospel be cultivated?

Verses 21-22.—Why should we not as Christians encourage the most absolute free thought, the most critical research, and welcome the teaching of true science?

Can the real truth ever be a hurt to a true man, and is not such a man as glad to change his opinion, when he finds he is wrong, as to change a worn-out garment for a new one?

Verses 22-23.—If we desire the right only, and are obedient to God's spirit, need we ever fear even the "appearance of evil?"

Verses 23-24.—Does God mean his children to live "harmless" lives, and is the twenty-fourth verse not a promise that God will give the power to do so?

THE CANADIAN MAGAZINE.

The Canadian Magazine for August is composed mostly of short stories and entertaining travel articles. "Victoria the Aristocrat" is the title of a pleasing appreciation of the capital of Vancouver Island, and "In the Land of Windmills," by the late E. M. Yeman, is full of quaint observations on Holland and the Dutch people.

"The Witchery of the Alps," by Hedley P. Somerville, is a well-illustrated description of Swiss mountain scenery and its effect on the spectator. The centenary of the birth of Alfred Tennyson and Oliver Wendell Holmes takes place this August, and therefore the number contains appreciative articles on the works and characters of these two celebrated authors. "Penryvon," by W. T. Allison, with portrait by A. J. Clark, and Holmes by Grace McLeod Rogers, the fiction contributions are particularly strong, with short stories by Anna B. Fries, P. S. Kirkpatrick, Fred Jarman, Lillian Vaux Mackinnon, Marjorie L. C. Pickett and E. J. G. Butler.

The chief poem is a patriotic one by Wilfred Campbell and entitled "The Sea Queen." There are poems also by Verna Sheard; H. O. N. Bedford and others.

"Cool as a cucumber" is scientifically correct. Investigation shows that this vegetable has a temperature one degree below that of the surrounding atmosphere.

DEATH OF GREAT MODERNIST LEADER

Roman Catholic Church Loses Great Man in Rev. Father Tyrell.

Modernism has lost a revered leader and the Roman church in England its greatest priest since Newman by the death of Father George Tyrell.

Father Tyrell was born in Dublin on February 6, 1861, of a family distinguished in intellectual gifts. After studying at Trinity college in the Irish capital he was admitted into the Roman communion early in 1879. He died recently at Storrington, Sussex.

Over a week before Father Tyrell was taken ill and became partly inarticulate. On Saturday it is authoritatively stated, his friend, Baron von Hügel, informed a priest who was summoned that, according to his certain knowledge:

(1) Father Tyrell would wish to receive all the rites of the church;

(2) He would be deeply contrite for all and any sin and excess of which he had been guilty, as in other matters so in the course of controversy; but that

(3) He would not wish to receive the sacraments at the cost of a retraction of what he had said or written in all sincerity, and still considered to be the truth.

Afterwards Father Tyrell received conditional absolution, and two days later extreme unction was administered by the Prior of Storrington. On Tuesday the father's intimate, Abbe Bremond, arrived and attended him to his very last moment.

Like Newman, George Tyrell was born protesting, but in his youth, largely owing to the influence of the Cardinal's writings, he joined the Church of Rome, and a year later the Society of Jesus. He soon became a power among the Jesuits—he has been described as the greatest mind among them since the Reformation—and his early writings, especially "Hard Sayings" and "Nova et Vetera," were read and English Catholics as something of a revelation in devotional literature. Plus X. himself has admitted his deep indebtedness to their fine spirit—a tribute which will be endorsed by all who know them.

Their author's dismissal from the Jesuit order, by whom he had long been suspected was brought about in 1905 by the publication of a "Much Abused Letter" in an Italian journal. The letter, it has only recently transpired, was written quite privately by Tyrell, at the request of the late Cardinal Vaughan, to "a Professor of Anthropology," in the hope and with the object of preventing the professor from leaving the church. As a result, the writer was dismissed the Society of Jesus and suspended a divine. Later, after further negotiations, he was offered restoration of his rights as a priest, provided he would submit his private correspondence to an ecclesiastical censor. To this objectionable proposal Tyrell replied, with deep indignation, that he was "resigned" to the position of an outcast rather than become an accomplice in a profanation, by allowing that the sacred sacrifice of the Mass should be utilized as an instrument of government and moral coercion.

It is paying only a feeble tribute to his memory to say that to those who knew Father Tyrell, his life and character were even more beautiful than his writings. After his suspension from the Society of Jesus he retired to the little village of Storrington, nestled among the Sussex Downs. When Plus X. issued the Encyclical Pascendi against Modernism in 1907 Tyrell answered it in the Times with a masterly insight and a deep understanding of the Vatican authorities promptly retaliated through the Roman Catholic bishop of Southwark by ordering the excommunication of their daring critic. He was deprived of the sacraments, but what is called the major excommunication, which requires all Catholics to boycott the sinner under pain of excommunication themselves, was reserved for Loisy. Such a censure probably would have attracted too much attention in this country and aroused popular indignation. Father Tyrell's last, and perhaps his greatest, work was "Medievalism," a crushing reply to Cardinal Mercier, who had rather foolishly plied him before his Belgian flock.

FIND THE ASHES OF

GAUTAMA BUDDHA

Near Peshawar is Discovered

One of Eight Bronze

Sockets.

London, July 31.—Excavations conducted by the Archaeological department of the Indian government near Peshawar, the British stronghold, near the frontier of Afghanistan, have resulted in the discovery of an ancient Buddhist memorial mound, containing a bronze socket, within which are some of the ashes of Gautama Buddha, the founder of Buddhism. They are inclosed in a wrought hexagonal rock crystal receptacle, sealed with the royal seal of the Emperor Kanishka, who was ruling in Peshawar at the opening of the Christian era.

"Gautama Buddha" died in 482 B. C., his body was cremated and the ashes divided in eight parts among his disciples," said Dr. L. D. Barnett, keeper of the Oriental books in the British Museum, to-day.

"One of the vases containing these portions, known as the Piprahwa Vase, was discovered a few years ago by the government survey."

WOMEN LYNCH FLIRT.

Dragged Her By the Hair Through a Village Street.

London, July 30.—Details of the lynching of a young and beautiful woman by a crowd of jealous members of her own sex are to hand from St. Petersburg. The affair took place last week in the village of Volekhi, in the Russian government of Volhynia. The victim had incurred the hatred of the other women in the village by her flirtations with the men of the neighborhood, both married and single, and feelings reached a climax when it became known that on her account one of the young men of the village had broken his promise to marry another girl. On coming out of church the other day the women, both old and young, threw themselves upon the flirt, and in spite of her cries for mercy tore all her clothes off. They then dragged her through the village by the hair of the head, beating and stoning her mercilessly. At first the men laughed, but when they saw how savagely the girl was being maltreated they attempted to rescue her. These infuriated women, however, drove them off and then dragged their unhappy victim, who was by now a mass of wounds, to a large tree just outside the village, where they hanged her to one of the branches and then lighted a fire of brushwood under her. When the police arrived on the scene they found the victim of the women's fury lying under the tree, blackened to a cinder.

What can harm us if we are true to ourselves and do what we think is right?—Black.

PARISIAN SAGE

PUTS HAIR ON YOUR HEAD AND KEEPS IT THERE.

What's the use of being bald? What sense is there in deliberately allowing your hair to turn gray?

Do you want to look old before your time? Give up the thought; old age will come all too soon.

Look after your hair. Parisian Sage will kill the dandruff germs, and is the only preparation, so far as we know, that is guaranteed to do so.

Man or woman, no matter how old you are, Parisian Sage will make you look younger.

Why not go to D. E. Campbell and get a large bottle to-day, it only costs 50 cents, and your money back if it does not cure dandruff, stop falling hair, or itching of the scalp. It will make your hair luxuriant, bright and beautiful, and it is the most refreshing, pleasant and invigorating hair dressing made.

INEBRIATES MUTINY AND CAUSE TERROR

Twenty-nine Men Break Away and Alarm the Neighborhood.

There were exciting scenes, and even widespread alarm, outside Bristol for some hours on a recent Saturday. No fewer than twenty-nine men escaped from the Bentry Reformatory Home for Inebriates, and, while they remained at large, something like a panic prevailed in several villages.

The men went out in a body, and so serious was the position for a time that a small contingent of police on their track dared not attempt to hold them in check, but simply shadowed the mutineers through country lanes and over fields, biding their time until reinforced.

While the inmates of the home were working in the fields the recalcitrant group made for the gates in compact force, and when challenged by the lodge-keeper they boldly declared they were going out. It was then impossible to close the gates. There were in the party strong, rough fellows, some having "records," the knowledge of which conveyed a warning that they were not to be trifled with. Parlaying was of no use. For the moment the men were masters of the situation, and away they dashed, expressing themselves with a fierce directness which indicated a grim determination to be at liberty.

Immediately they had gained their point the lodge-keeper telephoned for assistance, and then came the task, as a precautionary measure, of hurrying to their quarters the workers who were yet in the fields. That done, all available attendants were mustered as a pursuit party, information was sent to neighboring villages all around the district, and police, speedily summoned, joined in the search, some in vehicles, others on bicycles.

It was known that the mutineers, on getting free of the home, had armed themselves with tools and sticks, while a few of them picked up big stones and muttered their intention to use them if needs be. The men kept together, watching for the police, who were at the time filling through a country lane, and then taking a cross-country route, which suggested that their object was to get into Bristol for a circuitous course. They were in their shirt-sleeves, just as they had struck work.

A man, by indulging in the habit of scorn and contempt for others, is sure to descend to the level of what he despises; so the opposite habits of admiration and enthusiastic reverence for excellence impart to ourselves a portion of the qualities we admire. There is nothing in everything but humility is the surest path to exaltation.—Dr. Arnold.

FISHGUARD SCENE OF FARCICAL INVASION

Red-cloaked Welsh Women Were Terror to French Veterans.

Fishguard, the Welsh port that has been chosen by the Cunard company as its new port of call, and for the debarkation and embarkation of passengers, is something more than a great, modern harbor, hewn out of the rock by the Great Western railway. It is one of the historic spots of Great Britain, for there in 1797 the last invaders set foot on British soil and were ignominiously repulsed. In a brochure recently published by the railway, this story of the French descent is thus told:

When the morning of Wednesday, February 22, 1797, broke upon the scene, it showed that Lord Cawdor crossing Goodwick Sands at the head of his little troop of Yeomanry, and about three hundred of the Cardigan and Pembroke militia, upwards of two thousand pikemen, miners and peasants, with all the resident gentry of nearly three counties, welcomed their arrival with a shout that must have been heard in the enemy's camp. They had assembled from every hill and valley, and were armed in the most primitive style: scythe-blades fixed upright at the end of stakes, mattocks, spades, bay-forks, axes, and reaping-hooks; very few had guns. A ferocious spirit animated them; and the scythemen, brandishing aloft their terrible weapons, made the air re-echo with impatient cries to be at once let to the attack. "Well, mave 'em down," they cried, "as we'd mave a swathe of grass!" Not the least remarkable of the newcomers was a dissenting clergyman, named Jones, armed with a double-barrelled fowling-piece, at the head of his entire male congregation. The news reached Haverfordwest at seven of the preceding evening, whilst this scene of the church militant preached to a crowded chapel. It was soon, whistled in the pulpit. With great presence of mind he exhorted his hearers to remain firm, nor turn their backs in the day of battle, etc., concluding with an offer to be himself their leader. Then the whole congregation rose en masse, and assented with acclamations. Seizing every ready weapon they forthwith commenced their march. Such, indeed, is the force of example, that lads were seen following their but there was nothing to excite suspicion in a countryman so attired. They attracted attention rather by their numbers; and, while they evidently believed in the strength that comes from union, their tactics made their recapture more easy than if they had scattered.

Police Inspector Thompson, of Westbury, had led a group of cycling constables; and some of these were the first to sight the fugitives, who were at the time filling through a country lane. The men promptly disclosed a rebellious mood when halted; and there was no help for it, with only two or three policemen at hand, but simply to keep the wanderers in view, in the hope of soon falling in with assistance. Meanwhile extensive use was being made of the telephone and telegraph to ensure that there was no escape by goods or passenger trains traversing the neighboring lines of the Great Western system.

The fugitives were able to obtain refreshments on their march by merely asking for it at wayside houses, and making the request in a way that it was not expedient to ignore. For something like three hours they went on, with a few policemen at their heels. Whether they had lost their bearings or not was not clear, but having set out west of the city, they were eventually circling around the borders to an eastward point, and there, in the vicinity of Staplehill, the dramatic appearance on the scene of additional police and attendants from the home effectually checked further advance.

Superintendent Cooke, of the county constabulary, was in charge of the police, and he told the men that their immediate destination must be either the Bentry one or the police station. They were obdurate for a time, but soon surrendered, and were led back in handcuffs to Staple Hill, where they were locked up in jail. Before the search parties, to the number of sixty or seventy men, could all be recalled, the presence of a county magistrate had been secured at Staple Hill, and the prisoners were brought before him in batches of half a dozen or so.

The delinquents made merry in the crowded cells. They bawled snatches of song and shouted themselves hoarse; but no one minded now that they were under lock and key. They were mostly men between 23 and 35 years of age, but there was one veteran of 61 years. It was stated in court that all were at the home on magisterial warrants, and they came from various parts of the country. The trouble leading to the outbreak had its origin in some grumbling regarding the bread supply, and one of the men stated that they had made complaint, but could not get a satisfactory answer.

father's footsteps armed like them with forks and reaping hooks. Preparatory to his contemplated attack on the Frenchman's stronghold, Lord Cawdor rode out at the head of his Yeomanry to within half a mile of their camp. Had the enemy been furnished with artillery as their lofty rock command of the road, they need not have left alive one single horseman to carry back the news of his comrade's fate. As it was, after a careful survey, the party coolly trotted off homeward.

This visit led, curiously enough, to most important results. The French officers, deceived by the splendid chargers and handsome uniform of those forty yeomen, mistook them for the English general and his staff, and presuming that so large a suite must belong to a proportionately large body of troops, it was resolved to treat for a surrender. Drunk and mutinous as were their followers, no chance of successful operations could be anticipated, and, to add to their despair, the ships had early that morning weighed anchor and left them to their fate. Another misconception, still more ludicrous, which, even to the present hour, is a subject of merriment to the Welsh, gave an additional impulse to their resolve. Several hundred women, young and old, had followed their husbands from the hills, dressed in the national costume, red mantles and men's heavier hats. No sooner had Lord Cawdor started with his troopers than they, with the natural curiosity of their sex, ran up a hill commanding a view of the French camp, and there stood in a dense body watching the result.

General Tate and his staff, knowing that scarlet was the British uniform, but unable to discriminate whether it was worn by men or women, hastily concluded that large reinforcements had reached Fishguard. Then came the unconditional surrender of Tate and his scapegrace followers, and their "internment" in Pembroke prison and elsewhere.

The epilogue had yet to come. About a hundred of the invaders, aided by a couple of Welsh girls who had formed at attachment to two of their number, "broke prison" and cut Lord Cawdor's twenty-four-ton yacht, then lying close by, and made good their escape to France. A handsome reward was offered for its recapture; subsequently portions of it were thrown up on the coast, but the fugitives were safe and sound on French soil. As far as the fair settlers were concerned, the comedy in which they played so important a part ended in marriage. During the continuance of the short-lived peace of Amiens, they even revisited Wales and were welcomed with enthusiasm. The depredations committed by the invaders were of a very trivial description. They stole a silver chalice, which was afterwards returned; sent a bullet through a grandfather clock, and took all the vittals they could lay their hands on.

OXYGEN IS A HELP TO INCREASING SPEED

Experts Differ as to Legitimacy of Its Use by Athletes.

The use of oxygen in sports, to enable athletes to make greater effort without fatigue, is explained by Dr. A. Cartas in La Nature (Paris). The effect seems undoubted; whether such aid in a contest should be regarded as legitimate, however, is another matter. Experiments in France, England, and America have shown that athletes can make new records with this treatment, swimmers can cover distances heretofore deemed impossible, and in one case a broken-winded horse was enabled to take a steep hill at a gallop, and reached the top ready for more. Dr. Cartas tells the reason for all this as follows:

"All effort involves a tension of the muscles of the neck and thoracic cavity, and a slowing up of the respiratory exchanges, which finally results in discomfort. The hill-climbing cyclist begins to pant; less when he is asthmatic; less when he is in good training than when he is not. One gets out of breath when running; and if the speed is too great, as in the final spurt of a race, respiration fails and the runner feels faint.

This is because the phenomena of respiratory combustion are no longer taking place under normal conditions. We breathe daily 10,000 liters of air, which circulate in the passages of the lungs and exchange the vital gas, oxygen, for the waste gas, carbonic acid. This air contains about one-fifth its volume of oxygen, of which we retain about one-quarter, exhaling in its place an equivalent amount of carbonic acid. This penetration of the oxygen, which becomes combined with the red blood-corpuscles, and this throwing off of carbonic gas, go on uninterruptedly with each respiratory movement. But in violent, sustained effort the exchanges no longer occur regularly; insufficient oxygen is taken in and too much carbonic acid is retained. The same thing takes place in diseased conditions when the heart and lungs do not work normally and phenomena of asphyxia, more or less rapid and more or less pronounced, take place. To relieve this asphyxia by the respiration of pure oxygen, larger amounts of the gas than are obtainable from the atmosphere are introduced.

In violent exercise the period during which respiration may be modified without discomfort is markedly prolonged by inhaling a few breaths of oxygen. The experiments of Messrs. Hall and Plack show this clearly and are very interesting. The moment when the respiration becomes labored accords with that when the carbonic acid reaches the proportion of 5 to 7 per cent. in the atmosphere; now if only three inspirations of oxygen be taken by a subject in this irrespirable atmosphere, we may raise the amount of carbonic acid by 1 to 2 per cent., that is, to 8 or 10 per cent., before respiratory discomfort sets in. Thus the difficulty of breathing experienced by runners and all those who are making violent efforts, ought to be relieved by oxygen. And experiments show that this is the case; by causing runners to breathe oxygen, in tests at the London hospital, results similar to those obtained with sick persons were reached; the runners performed their tasks in conditions of ease and comfort that would have been otherwise impossible, and reached the finish as fresh and fit as after a run of a few seconds. One of the contestants inhaled oxygen for two minutes at the start and traversed a quarter of a mile in 50 seconds instead of 58, which is the habitual time in ordinary conditions.

Similar results have been obtained with swimmers in America, and with athletes or professionals of various kinds. Mr. Plack, who accompanied the swimmer Wolfe in his attempt to cross the Channel, is convinced that he would have succeeded if he had consented to breathe a little oxygen. . . . The results are the same with animals. A horse five years old, formerly used on a street railway, a little broken-winded, but strong and active, climbed a long hill, attached to a carriage, in 3 1/2 minutes; on reaching the top he was panting, breathed with difficulty, and it was necessary to let him rest and go down at a walk. The same exercise was repeated after administering oxygen for ten minutes, and the hill was climbed at a gallop in 2 minutes 5 seconds; the breathlessness was less marked, and the descent was made at a trot.

Examples could easily be multiplied. The influence of oxygen on the activity of respiratory combustion has been utilized, as I have said, in therapeutics, to remedy the symptoms of asphyxia resulting from the retention of carbonic acid. The same favorable effects should be produced, and with still better results, with young subjects of good health, when the retention is only temporary. Oxygen may therefore be used with advantage to relieve a runner or athlete, in case of respiratory trouble brought on by too great effort or too long exercise. As for using it quite fashionable now. From the grave of a hunter were taken several weapons, mostly of stone and flint, but also a copper harpoon, which is of the greatest interest. A clay gaming board with eighteen squares and twelve men shows that "draughts" is a very ancient institution.

Of the latter period, 3,000 B. C., is the skull of a long-horned ox found at the bottom of a shaft of a grave, where it had been placed with one of the haunches as an offering. The central teeth of both sides of the lower jaw are worn down, as by a bit. The horse was unknown at that period. There is quite a quantity of hair on the skull showing that the animal was a blond.—London Chronicle.
